Neumann Homes withdraws petition

By JULIE MURPHY
Staff Reporter

Neumann Homes had been on the agenda for the meeting of the Village of Antioch Board of Directors, but Mayor Marilyn Shineflug announced to a packed house that the board had received a letter from Neumann Homes that afternoon withdrawing the petition.

"Neumann Homes has withdrawn their petition. They have agreed to take into consideration the recommendations made by the Combined Planning and Zoning Board," said Shineflug.

Trustee Marvin Oldenburger added, "We should tell these people that any new petition (from Neumann) would have to go back to planning and zoning and public comment."

No one from Neumann Homes was present to speak on behalf of the developers.

Attorney prepares lawsuit against Village of Antioch

By JULIE MURPHY
Staff Reporter

Attorney Garth Yore was contacted by a group of residents from Antioch who had problems with sewage backing up into their homes.

Yore said, "Approximately 100 homes have sewage in them—a whole floor of raw sewage, including toilet paper and water."

Yore contends that the Village of Antioch knew these residents had problems with the sewage system backing up into their homes and were in effect sitting on a "ticking time bomb."

He said the group contacted him in hopes he would be able to help them get back to status quo. Issues of particular concern to the residents are disinfecting their homes and what this will do to their home values when it comes time to sell. State law mandates that owners disclose problems with basement leakage and sewer/septic problems.

Yore said he has contacted village officials but has not heard back from them. He was quick to add that he had just notified the village and requested a response by June 25.

"I have documentation and stacks of photos showing the damage. Many of their homes are without functioning kitchens and bathrooms," said Yore. "In some cases the entire first floor has been destroyed."

Yore said he will seek monetary damages and an agreement with the village to update the sewer system so a similar situation won't happen again.

Village administrator Tim Wells said, "We received a fax (from Yore) and we have forwarded it to the insurance company. The village is waiting for them to tell us what to do."

Yore can be reached at (630) 820-3081.

Board hears account of flood

Mayor informed of village efforts to assist residents

By JULIE MURPHY
Staff Reporter

Mayor Marilyn Shineflug gave an account of the village's response to the flooding during the meeting of the board of directors of the Village of Antioch.

She said, "On Monday, June 12, public works, the fire department, police and the emergency services department spent the morning and afternoon trying to reduce potential public safety threats in our village."

She reported that they cleaned catch basins to allow streets to drain, checked all lift stations to ensure sewage was being pumped and watched the sewage treatment plant to make sure water was flowing.

"These crews worked well into the night pumping water so lift stations would not short out and continue to pump sewage," she reported. "Also, one of the village lift stations flooded and had to be manually pumped through the night."

The team effort continued throughout the week with crews checking to make sure there were no washouts or significant damage to roads and bridges. Administrator Tim Wells coordinated efforts for extra trash removal, at the expense of the village to aid residents in their clean-up efforts.

Sewer worries voiced

Meeting scheduled for residents

By JULIE MURPHY
Staff Reporter

After village engineer John Boldt gave a report at the village board's regular meeting stating that the village thought the sewer backup problems had been solved, a meeting was set for June 30 at 7 p.m. at the village hall.

Residents will have an opportunity to voice individual problems and complaints, as well as discuss potential solutions to their problems with village engineers and officials.

Resident Tom Pompeo asked if the infrastructure included the sanitary sewer. Mayor Marilyn Shineflug replied that the sanitary sewer was indeed part of the infrastructure, opening for the question from

Pompeo, "How can you say the infrastructure was working?"

Shineflug referred the question to Boldt because she and the board of trustees are not experts on sewer concerns.

When Pompeo accused Shineflug of skirting the question village manager Tim Wells addressed the issue. He said, "Manholes were checked in that area, and there was clear water in them. We knew we had a problem with infiltration of water in the sanitary sewer system. When we're talking about infrastructure—although it does include the sewer drains—we're mainly concerned with lift stations that pump the sewage to keep those lines down, our

Ryan declares Antioch disaster area

By JULIE MURPHY
Staff Reporter

Gov. George Ryan declared Lake County a disaster area as a result of flash flooding, which includes Antioch.

Originally, Chris Kallis for the Illinois Environmental Protection Agency (IEPA) did an inspection of the sewage treatment plant, reviewed reports of sewage backups and discussed soil and erosion concerns with the village consulting engineer John Boldt, reported Mayor Marilyn Shineflug to the board at its regular meeting.

"Lee Shannon, Tim Wells and I went to Gurnee to meet with director Mike Chamness IEMA (Illinois Emergency Management Association)," said Mayor Marilyn Shineflug. "I discussed with Mr. Chamness our initial damage reports and what might the state be doing to help our residents. He indicated that at the present time he was not sure a disaster area declaration was warranted."

Ryan made the declaration after Chamness completed a tour of the flood-damaged areas of northern Illinois.

"The director told me about the damage he saw and about the tremendous volunteer efforts to save communities like . . . Antioch and Gurnee," said Ryan. "These communities still face clean-up efforts and other obstacles, and we intend to help out."

Shineflug commented, "This declaration will benefit the village. It is our understanding that manpower and equipment costs directly related to the flood may be reimbursed. Also, additional funds may become available for utility improvements if they are found to be needed."

Chain may be open to no wake rules

By JULIE MURPHY
Staff Reporter

The Chain O'Lakes and the Fox River remain closed, though there is hope that the Chain north of Stratton Dam will be open under no wake rules by June 24.

Linda Ryckman, spokesperson for Fox Waterway Agency, said, "The water level is currently 5-6 inches above flood stage. The water level will need to drop by another 4-6 inches to open the Chain under no wake rules. In 24 hours, the Stratton Dam has dropped 3-4 inches. Current and predicted rainfall may slow down the rate at which the level drops, but the level

Eat flapjacks with fire fighters

By BECKY DUBA
Staff Reporter

The Antioch Fire Fighters Association will host its annual pancake breakfast on June 25 from 7 a.m. - 1 p.m. at the main fire station located at the corner of Orchard and Holbek St.

The new ladder truck will be displayed along with the other fire department vehicles.

The Fire Prevention Bureau will have the Fire Safety House set up to help educate children and adults about the importance of practicing fire safety in the home.

The money raised from this breakfast will be used to purchase necessary items, such as the protective clothing worn by firefighters, equipment used by the dive rescue team and portable radios. Additionally, support goes to the Fire Prevention Bureau by purchasing public education materials that are used throughout the year.

Fire Lt. Chris Lienhardt said this is the department's sixth annual pancake breakfast fund-raiser.

"We used to have a fireman's dance but lately the trend has been to get away from that because of liability," Lienhardt said. "So we decided to try this pancake breakfast."

Lienhardt explained that the first year, it was held upstairs in the meeting room, not expecting many people to show up.

"We were totally unprepared for the 300 to 500 people who stopped by," he said. "We now hold it down on the truck floor and have it running as what we'd like to call a slightly, well-oiled machine."

Lienhardt said the department now pulls in 1,000 or more residents for the fund-raiser.

Prior to the morning meal, raffle tickets are sent to the community members. On the day of the event, the winners are drawn. Lienhardt said residents have always been very supportive of the department's primary—and only—fund-raiser.

Hughes appointed associate judge

The judges in the 19th Judicial Circuit voted to select Brian P. Hughes as associate judge. He will be sworn in on July 7 in a public ceremony in the Lake County Court House in Waukegan at 11 a.m.

"Becoming a judge is something every attorney aspires to do," said Hughes. "This has been a long-term goal for me."

This is the second time Hughes has gone through the application process to become an associate judge. Openings occur when a judge retires or when extra spots are created.

Applications are reviewed by circuit judges in Lake and McHenry counties. In 1998, Hughes was a finalist. This time he was selected along with Diane Winter of Gurnee.

Hughes said the full-time position could place him in traffic, divorce or criminal court, but new associates generally begin in traffic court.

A lifetime Lake County resident, Hughes has resided on Loon Lake with his wife Marilyn and his sons Evan and Neil since 1984.

Hughes received his undergraduate degree in 1976 from Western Illinois University in Macomb and his Juris Doctor in 1979 from the John Marshall Law School in Chicago. He is currently engaged in a solo practice in Waukegan.

The Lakes Area Historical Society will host an ice cream social. Quilter's Dream is making a quilt to be sold at auction.

There will be a 5K race sponsored by State Bank of the Lakes prior to the festivities with proceeds benefiting Special Education District of Lake County.

The Antioch Senior Center will host a bridge and pinochle tournament.

There will be parade contest for children for bike decorating, with categories for most patriotic and a pet contest. Participants will be judged while marching and prizes will be awarded after the parade.

Prizes include gift certificates from Antioch Schwinn and Best Pets, and a summer pool pass from the parks department. Registration forms are available at the parks department office.

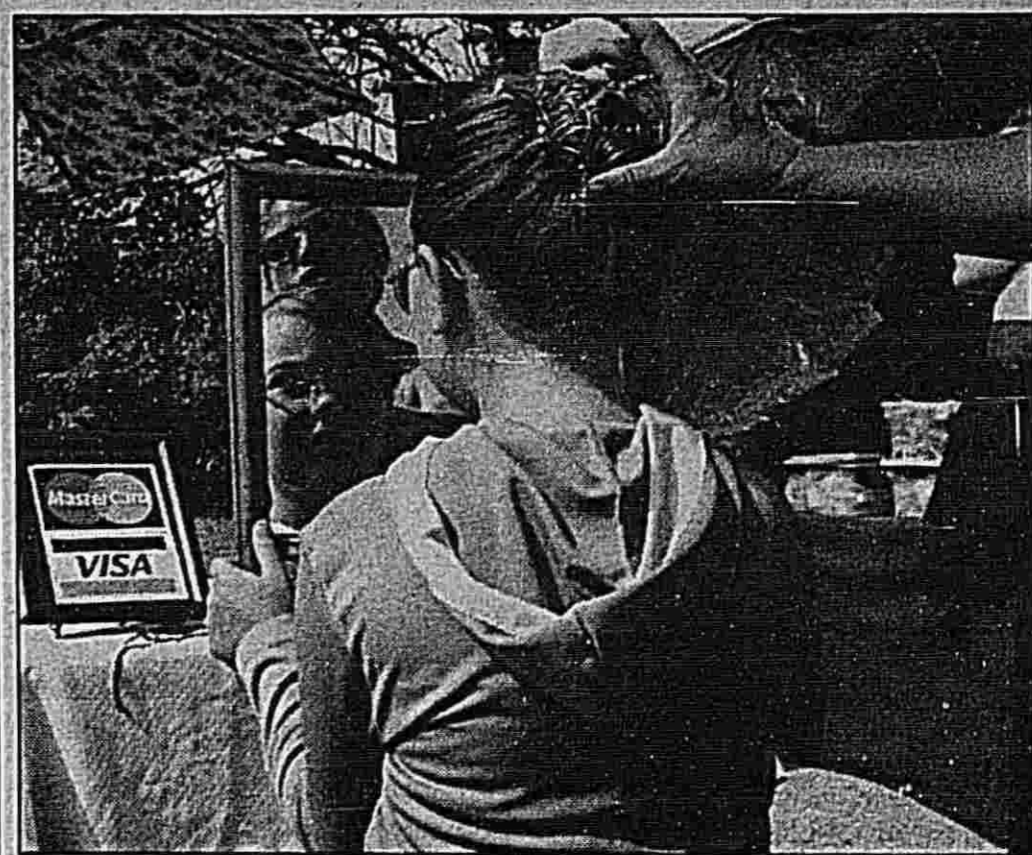

Admission to the pool will be 25 cents on the Fourth of July.

Several non-profit groups will be selling food for the celebration. St. Ignatius Church will be selling brats, hot dogs, corn and chips. The Antioch Lion's Club will have pop, beer and water.

LETTER TO EDITOR

Highway dept. deserves thanks

So often people only send letters of complaint to the newspapers. This is not that type of letter. It is a letter of praise and of gratitude. My husband and I live on a channel off of Lake Marie on the Chain O' Lakes in Antioch. After a rainy period, and especially after the extremely heavy rainfall that recently hit in the Antioch area, our channel front property slowly began to get covered from the high waters.

First the water touched the pier, then it went over the pier, then up to the bench on the end of the dock, and eventually over the sea wall and beach areas. However, a simple call to Mark Ring's office furnished us with sandbags and enough sand to fill the bags should the water keep rising, or God forbid should more rains come our way. After we received our first load, the water still got higher, so my husband called back and asked for another load to be delivered. He was honest and said we may not need it, but shared his worry with the person that took his call indicating that we may not need to sandbag, but if the water should crest on the weekend, and we could not get more sand we could end up taking water into our lower living level. Once again Mark Ring's department responded with a second fast delivery and more bags to fill if the situation would warrant sand bagging.

At the writing of this letter, we do not know if we needed the bags or not, all we know is we want to thank Mark Ring of the Antioch Township Highway Department and his fine and efficient staff for not only getting the sand to the area residents, but for also getting it to us in record time. Thanks Mark and staff keep up the great work.

Resident requests village check sewer systems

By JULIE MURPHY
Staff Reporter

Resident Douglas Ploss stood before the Antioch Village Board of Directors and read a letter addressing his concerns with sewer backups, spurred by the rain, and asked the board to take action to prevent the sewer from backing up again.

Ploss reported that he has had seven significant sewer backups and numerous burps—where sewer gas can be smelled—even when the rainfall is not extraordinary.

His first concern was that sanitary sewers have not been smoke tested for a period of about 18 years. Mayor Marilyn Shineflug immediately refuted the claim. Ploss suspects there are residents who have illegally hooked sumps and downspouts to the sanitary sewer.

"We can't leave home for four hours without worry," said Ploss. "We have a check valve in the floor drain that worked, but the sewage came up into the laundry tub nearby, filled it and put 8 inches of water and sewer onto the floor. . . A winter a year ago I used my shop vac to suck up 27 pails of sewage that I carried up the stairs and threw out our front door."

Ploss requested the storm sewer line be extended 200 feet from where it currently ends so sump pumps can be discharged into something. He reported that a neighbor's sump and downspouts discharge into his yard and that his four sump pumps send everything out into the street.

His third request was to have the assessed value of his home reduced until a solution is found to prevent sewer back-ups. He said, "If we want to sell our house, there's a state law from 1994, the Residential Real Property Disclosure Act—Public Act 88-111, that must be filled out and signed."

According to Ploss, two questions in the disclosure ask specifically about flooding and recurring leakage in the basement and material defects in the septic, sanitary sewer or other disposal system.

"Do I lie and open us up to a lawsuit? Our seller lied, but there's a one-year action limit and he also disappeared. Do I tell the truth and accept a lower than normal fair market value for the home?" Ploss asked the board.

Village board challenged on clean-up payment

By JULIE MURPHY
Staff Reporter

The Antioch Village Board of Directors heard complaint over flooding issues from resident Claudette Skvarce. She said the village had allegedly paid for the cleaning of one resident's basement.

"A worker from Duraclean in Antioch informed my son that Antioch was paying for a house to be cleaned of sewer sludge," Skvarce said.

Skvarce reported that her son had been told that Duraclean was waiting for the bill to be paid by the village.

Mayor Marilyn Shineflug and village administrator Tim Wells later confirmed that the Village of Antioch is indeed paying for the cleaning of one person's home, but the situation had nothing to do with the flood. Additionally, the village will be reimbursed by an outside contractor it hired.

Wells explained, "A contractor broke a pipe during a water main job (done) for the village. This is what caused the damage and the problem. We agreed to pay for the cleaning of that individual's home, but we will be reimbursed by the contractor."

District 34 secures $25,000 for computer technology

School board president Dr. Bud Newton read a letter to the school board from State Rep. Tim Osmond (R-Antioch) which stated that through the Member Community Initiatives from the State of Illinois 2000 budget, he was able to secure $25,000 for Antioch Community Consolidated School District 34 for the advancement of computer technology in the classroom.

Fee for custodial services discussed

Some discussion took place concerning whether or not to charge a fee for custodial services to outside groups wishing to use Antioch Community Consolidated School District 34's buildings. Interim superintendent Dr. Darrell Dick explained that in most cases programs for children are exempt from paying these fees, but adult and private parties are asked to pay. The topic will be brought back up as old business along with a list of users at a future meeting.

Residents urged to give assessment

Lee Shannon stressed that it is imperative for residents, including apartment dwellers, who have experienced flood damage contact him so damage assessments can be completed. He can be reached at 395-1881. Messages will be returned in the evening, but they will be returned.

This information could influence the amount of aid Antioch will receive and may affect residents' ability to secure low-interest loans for repair and replacement of what was lost during the flood.

"It's easy to see what happens when a tornado comes through, but it isn't as easy to see what happens with a flood," Shannon said.

He explained that the plan goes through a revision every two years. "We are still in the process of writing the new plan which is made up of three parts."

OUR TOWN

The 17-member committee includes representation from all village entities, according to Shannon.

"We generally test the plan in a tabletop exercise—something similar to what actually happened here," Shannon continued.

"I want to thank everyone in the committee who assisted in the efforts during the flood," said Shannon. "All of the departments of the village—public works, police, fire, village staff—everyone pulled together with the outside agencies. This could have been a lot worse."

Antioch Township highway commissioner Mark Ring reported that 765 tons of sand and 18,000 sandbags were delivered to 100 residents of the Antioch Township to combat flooding problems.

Of that 765 tons of sand, 550 tons were donated by Payne and Dolan Highway Contractors of Antioch. The sandbags were donated by Jim Shultz and the Lake County Sheriff's Emergency Management Agency.

wells and our sewage treatment plant."

Pompeo interjected, "For 14 hours after the water went away, the sanitary sewer was blowing water about a foot high. It took me four days to get the health department to come throw some lime on (it)."

Wells answered, "I don't think it was the health department that did that. It was the village that fixed it. The health department didn't make us come do that. We had 27 calls to that area and we were there."

Resident Ralph Brook asked the board what is going to be done to solve the problem. He said he's had sewage back up into his basement five times in 30 years. He expressed concern over the number of new houses being built. Brook emphasized, "The past is the past. What are we going to do for the future?"

Shineflug said, "I think there is some misunderstanding about the link between growth and what water goes where." She again introduced Boldt and then added, "I want you all to know that we wanted to work with you as early as last Monday when this all was happening. I had a conversation with John Boldt and Tim Wells and want to get to the bottom of this. I think we believed many of these problems were taken care of since there hadn't been any flooding since 1986."

Boldt limited his comments to sewer back-up problems, the biggest concern to the residents attending the meeting.

Boldt said, "There will be additional investigation of the Oakwood Knolls area as we believe there may be a cross connection somewhere."

The mayor explained a cross connection. She said, "Storm water is supposed to be separate from sanitary sewer lines. When they connect—you've heard people use the term 'surcharge'—there is too much water in the sanitary sewer line."

Boldt explained the lining program that was done in Oakwood Knolls and being considered for Maplewood. He said, "Basically what we do is take a fabric liner and impregnate it with a plastic resin, and when it hardens, it cures out as a plastic pipe. What it does is seal all those little cracks in the existing pipe and adds some structural strength to the pipe."

An additional measure being considered is the implementation of aggressive illegal sump pump connections. "We still believe there are many illegal sump pump connections, primarily in the Oakwood Knolls area, that go directly into the sanitary sewer system," said Boldt.

FLOOD

Shineflug continued, "By Wednesday, Lee Shannon (emergency services department) reported to me that all messages received on Monday and Tuesday were answered."

A public works crew was sent out to help some areas of the village move damaged items and provided garbage bags and brought pallets. Clean-up kits were distributed by the Red Cross.

"An assessment meeting was held to update me on the situation," said Shineflug. Jim Schultz, director of Emergency Management Agency of Lake County; Ron Carlson, Region 4 Coordinator of the Illinois Emergency Management Agency (IEMA); Diane Logsdon, disaster specialist of the American Red Cross and village staff met to discuss the situation.

"Both the county and state emergency management agencies indicated the work being done by the village, in particular Lee Shannon, was exemplary and should be commended."

Shineflug also noted that the official rainfall during her account. "The rain started late Saturday on June 10 and continued through Tuesday, June 13. The total rainfall for that period was 7.98 inches with a large amount of that total volume falling between 10 a.m. and 12 a.m. on Monday, June 12."

shouldn't go back up.

Ryckman explained that the outflow has to be greater than the inflow for the water level to drop. Water coming into the dam from the Nippersink Creek and the Fox River is flowing at 2,000 cubic feet per second (CFS) and the outflow is 4,500 CFS.

"Many people have been asking how this flood compares with other floods," Ryckman added. "According to data compiled, the flood of record occurred between March 21 and April 26, 1960. Flood levels then were one foot and a half higher than they are right now as measured by the Fox Lake Stream Gauge. Water was flowing over the dam at 6,480 CFS. This is nowhere near the worst we've seen."

DUI

Maureen M. McCarragher, 48, of 41981 N. Beachview Dr. in Antioch was arrested on June 17 at 1:24 a.m. on Rte. 173 west of Tiffany Rd.

Police observed a green Pontiac weaving back and forth and crossing over the center line. McCarragher crossed over the center line a second time, nearly striking an eastbound vehicle.

McCarragher was pulled over and advised why she was stopped. Police reported that McCarragher had difficulty finding her driver's license.

Police smelled the strong odor of alcohol on McCarragher's breath. McCarragher said she had a couple of beers.

McCarragher was asked to leave the vehicle to take a sobriety test. Police reported that she appeared unsteady on her feet staggering as she walked toward the front of her car. She was unable to perform a one-leg test. She was also unable to complete a walk and turn test.

McCarragher was arrested and transported to the Antioch Police Department. There, she agreed to a breath test resulting in a .19 blood alcohol level.

Citations were issued for improper lane use and for driving with a blood alcohol level of .08 or more. McCarragher was released on bond pending court date.

Driving while suspended

Kimberlee A. Kazlauskis, 34, of 355 North Ave. in Antioch was arrested for driving while suspended on June 15 at 7:55 p.m.

Police saw a blue Chevy Beretta traveling on Main St. The officer had prior knowledge of her suspended driver's license.

Kazlauskis was pulled over and informed of the reason for the stop. Police requested her driver's license and Kazlauskis responded that it was suspended and in the possession of the court.

Police ran her identifiers through LEADS/NCIC/SOS and confirmed that her license was suspended.

She was arrested and transported to the An-tioc Police Department. Kazlauskis received a citation for driving while suspended and released on a personal recognizance bond.

No valid driver's license

William J. Wittkamp, 21, of 42316 N. Oak Ln. in Antioch was arrested for driving without a valid driver's license on June 14 at 7:36 p.m.

Police observed offender's vehicle traveling on Anita when it veered partially off the roadway and continued to turn into the Anita Terrace Apartment Complex.

Wittkamp was pulled over and advised of the reason for the stop. A check through LEADS confirmed Wittkamp's Illinois driver's license expired 11-17-99.

Wittkamp was placed under arrest and transported to Antioch Police Department. He was placed through booking procedures and received citations for improper lane use and driving without a valid driver's license.

Wittkamp was released on a personal recognizance bond pending court date of July 26 at 9 a.m.

LAKE VILLA

Possession of controlled substance

James R. Johnson, 36 of 38610 N. Edgewood in Lake Villa was stopped by Lake Villa Police at 12:10 a.m. on June 17 at Rte. 83 and Grass Lake Rd. Johnson turned onto Grass Lake Rd. without signaling. When stopped, he produced an Indiana driver's license, but no proof of insurance. A check with Antioch dispatch and LEADS showed no valid Ill. license. Inventory of Johnson's car turned up a small quantity (under two grams) of a white powder that field-tested positive for opium. Johnson's car was towed away. He was read his Miranda rights, and told police he had "nothing to say." He was charged with operating an uninsured vehicle, driving without a valid license, no turn signal and possession of a controlled substance. He was remanded to the Lake County Jail for bond court.

Disobeying a railroad signal

Mark Gavin, 55, of 37565 N. Alpine Ln. in Lake Villa was arrested by Lake Villa Police at 2:30 a.m. on June 19 when he was observed driving a red 1998 Geo around the railroad gates at Cedar Ave. The gates were down, the red warning lights were flashing and an oncoming train was sounding its horn. The police officer turned and followed Gavin, stopping him in the parking lot at Prime Time. Gavin said he knew why he'd been stopped. He handed the responding officer citations from Grayslake and Lake Villa with a continuance date of June 21 at 10:30 a.m. His vehicle registration was for a 1999 Volkswagen. He asked the officer to "have a heart and give me a pass." The officer explained that he couldn't do that. Gavin was charged with disobeying a railroad sign and gate and improper use of registration. His court appearance is scheduled for 3 p.m. on July 12 at Branch III.

ACHS accepting applications for annual cheerleading clinic

By BRENDA BEITSCHER
Staff Reporter

Boys and girls, age 5-14, who want to sharpen their cheerleading skills can take advantage of Antioch Community High School's fourth annual cheerleading clinic on July 8 from 9 a.m.-2:30 p.m. at ACHS.

Laura Kiemle, assistant coach of sophomores, said the clinic would be covering a number of cheerleading techniques including dance routines, tumbling and "stunting," which involves "safely throwing people in the air."

"Safety is an important issue in cheerleading," said Kiemle. The squad uses mats in their practice to minimize injuries. According to Kiemle, the mats currently used are "at least 20 years old. They're pretty cheesy."

Seven new mats are needed to cover the 42 by 42-foot practice area. Proceeds from the clinic will help fund the purchase of the mats.

"The clinic is a major fund-raiser for the squads," Kiemle said, as she explained that cheerleading is the most underfunded of athletic activities. "We sell T-shirts, old uniforms and warm-up suits and T-shirts from previous clinics." T-shirts for this clinic will be given free to participants who register before July 4.

Last year's clinic attracted between 110-115 girls, who had a chance to practice under the tutelage of ACHS's three cheerleading coaches, Kiemle, freshman coach Michelle Szymanski and head coach Robin Gwinn. During the school year, the coaches teach 40 cheerleaders in the varsity and junior varsity squads. This year, ACHS's sophomore squad claimed seventh place in a field of 22 at the state competition, a tribute to the coaches' guidance.

Participants can register at the ACHS athletic department, or can call and register by phone.

"Parents will have to send a check by mail, in that case," said Kiemle. "The release can be signed on the day of the clinic."

For registration or additional information, call Laura Kiemle at 587-1381 or Robin Gwinn at 395-4882.

Worthy of Merit

The 6th hole of the Merit Club in Gurnee, where the 2000 U.S. Women's Open Championship will take place. Photos by Sandy Bressler.

By JOHN PHELPS
Sports Editor

The last time the U.S. Women's Open golf championship was held in Illinois was some 20 years ago, when Pat Bradley claimed the title at the La-Grange Country Club.

Well, the wait is over.

"It seemed like it was only a matter of time," said Merit Club head golf professional Don Pieper.

"This is like a dream of mine, to host a major championship," echoed President Ed Oldfield.

Merit Club, an exclusively private golf club located just south of Belvidere Rd. off Milwaukee Ave. in Gurnee has been selected to host the U.S. Women's Open this year.

Over the week of July 20-23, the Merit Club, with only a handful of members, won't be so private, serving as Lake County's host to the major women's professional golf championship. Many believe the U.S.G.A. couldn't have picked a more perfect venue.

"Many of the golf courses built in the last 20 years are not conducive to seeing a lot of golf," commented Peter deYoung, Championship Director for the 2000 U.S. Women's Open.

"But the Merit Club is. I think (Ed) Oldfield and Bert Getz, Sr., when they had the idea for a golf course, built into it some gallery ideas that will make it one of the great venues for actually watching a golf tournament. We hope to turn the course into a stadium-like atmosphere for a week."

Since the golf course was constructed on more than 300 acres of land, spectators should have no problem moving around.

"They (the spectators) will be able to see the women players on each and every hole," noted Getz, Sr., who serves as General Chairman of the Merit Club. "We think that the world will also recognize the beauty of Lake County, which we are very proud of, in seeing what we have created on this farm."

Vantage points, as well as concessions, will be plentiful at this gem come mid-July.

"We are planning to have between 100,000 and 150,000 people in attendance for the tournament," added deYoung. "We are going to set up a large pavilion as well as several tents. The pavilion will be a tented, air conditioned area with large-screen televisions so that spectators can come in, sit down and take time out from the absolute viewing of the golf tournament and relax as you would in your own home. It'll be a great time for the entire family."

And speaking of amenities, deYoung added that there will be enough food to feed well over 100,000 people for the week.

"Concessions have really become refined

Noah...I'm going to flood your basement

On June 12th of the year 2000, the heavens opened up on Antioch, Illinois.

The ground, already over-saturated from a particularly moist spring, acted like a baby that had been burped too soon after drinking a full bottle—it spit up. Unfortunately, and I know we're not alone on this one, it spit up in our finished basement. And, as it is written by some guy named Murphy who makes up really irritating laws, this little disaster happened just TWO DAYS before we were scheduled to leave on our first ever two-week vacation as a family.

The whole event caught me totally off-guard. There I was, blissfully unaware of the weather as I sat in my climate-controlled, windowless room at the large corporation where I toil in my day job. There I was, giving my employer my all, working hard at counting how many minutes were left in the day (29) till I was officially on vacation, when the phone woke me up.

I mean rang.

I quickly answered it, prepared to defend myself against anyone who might want to rain on my parade and add any extra minutes to my countdown.

"Whoever you are and whatever you want me to do, I'm sorry to tell you the answer is no. There are only...wait a second, I'm a little slow at math...let's see 29 minus one...uhhh...there are only 28 MINUTES left until my vacation begins, and I figure it will take me that long just to record an appropriate vacation message for my phone mail. You know, something nice like 'Call someone who cares...I'm outta here!'"

"It's me, and you'd better forget about that vacation for now and come home right away. The basement is flooded!" said the voice.

Talk about raining on my parade (not to mention a wake-up call). The voice on the phone was my husband, Mr. Bear. The basement was ours.

"WHAT DO YOU MEAN OUR BASEMENT IS FLOODED? DID YOU FORGET TO CLEAN THE LEAVES OUT OF THE WINDOW WELLS AGAIN?" I said, trying to calm him down.

LIFE'S A BEAR

Donna Abear

"HELLO-O-O-O! HAVE YOU LOOKED OUT THE WINDOW? IT'S BEEN POURING ALL DAY!" he said, trying to calm me down.

After we finished calming each other down (and he assured me there were no leaves in the window wells), we finally agreed that it was unavoidable. With so much rain in so short of time, it was simply an act of God.

And my ride home confirmed it, as I passed by all the flooded yards and crossed several large ponds of water that stretched across the roads. Of course, I should have known that my husband's version of an act of God was a little different than mine. I found this out as soon as I got home. As I walked downstairs to survey the damage, Mr. Bear was standing on the drenched carpeting, shaking his head.

"You know what this means, don't you? It's a sign," he said, and his expression looked almost...well, relieved.

At first, I was confused. "A sign? What kind of sign? A sign that God doesn't like this color carpeting?"

"No. You know what I mean. Our trip."

I was still confused. Our trip??? What did our trip have to do with the basement flooding? I was pretty sure there was no commandment that said, "Thou shalt not have a vacation." And why did he have that weird look on his face?

Suddenly, I knew. As that little man on Fantasy Island used to say, "De plane! De plane!"

"Oh, no you don't! Nice try, honey, but you are not going to use this as an excuse not to fly! I very much doubt that God flooded the whole town of Antioch just to give you a personal warning not to get on that plane to Seattle. In fact, if he was going to warn you about something, he should have warned you about the flood. After all, you're a carpenter, just like Noah."

"Come to think of it," I continued, "maybe you're the NEW Noah. Maybe it was a sign that there's more flooding on the way. Maybe you should build an ark. Let's see, we've got two dogs so far but only one cat. Maybe we need to get another cat, a pair of gerbils and..."

"OKAY, OKAY, NEVER MIND! I'll fly!" said Mr. Bear.

"NOW you're talking. Besides, if nothing else, we need a vacation just to get away from all this rain."

"We're going to Seattle, remember?"

You know, sometimes I wonder if God and that Murphy guy are in cahoots.

Note to readers: We're outta here! See you in two weeks. Next week, there will be a "mystery guest columnist" in this space. Hope you enjoy him!

If you enjoy her column, check out Donna's book, "Mom...you're not NAKED, are you?" available at Books, Etc. or J.J. Blinks in Antioch, online at Amazon.com or Donna's website at www.lifesabear.com. You can reach Donna by e-mail at donna@lifesabear.com or by mail at P.O. Box 391, Antioch, IL 60002

Elephants on a train, side shows at a park, and international circus celebrities parading through downtown Milwaukee: these are just some of the new features that audiences will enjoy during Wisconsin's 2000 Great Circus Parade Festival, slated for Thursday, July 7 through Sunday, July 16.

The Strong Investments Great Circus Train, July 7-10

Activities will begin on Thursday, July 7, with the loading of The Strong Investments Great Circus Train at The State Historical Society of Wisconsin's Circus World Museum in Baraboo. Seventy-five antique circus wagons will be loaded onto 18 vintage rail flat cars, a feat requiring the strength and expertise of both human and horse power. Spectators are invited to watch the all-day process, which employs historically accurate circus train-loading methods.

On Friday, July 8, The Great Circus Train, sponsored for the 15th consecutive year by Strong Investments, Menomonee Falls, Wisconsin, will embark on a three-day journey to Milwaukee for The Great Circus Parade. The colorful, half-mile-long train will make a leisurely, 380-mile journey through the south-central and eastern portions of the state via the Wisconsin & Southern Railroad

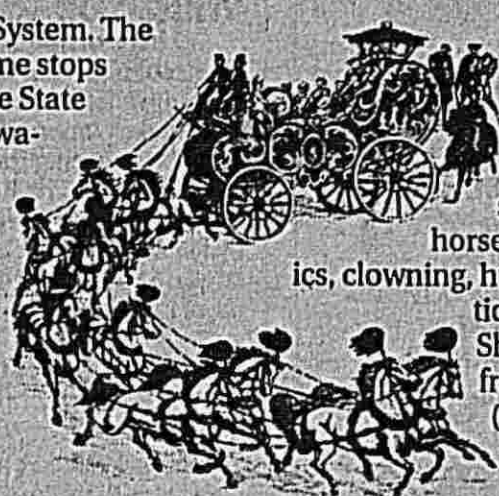

The Great Circus Parade in Milwaukee

Co. and Wisconsin Central System. The circus train will make daytime stops along the way at Devil's Lake State Park, Lodi, Madison, Whitewater, Oshkosh, Appleton, Green Bay and Fond du Lac. Overnight stops will be made in Waukesha on Friday, July 8, and Appleton on Saturday, July 9. There will be some new passengers on board this year's Great Circus Train—jumbo African elephants. The elephants will ride portions of the three-day trip, making appearances at major stops.

The Great Circus Parade Showgrounds, July 11-15

After the circus train arrives in Milwaukee on Monday afternoon, July 10, the circus history festival will move into its next phase at Milwaukee County's Veterans Park along Lake Michigan.

From Tuesday, July 11 through Saturday, July 15, the 60-acre park will be transformed into the 2000 Great Circus Parade Show-grounds. This year's new attractions will include 18 performances of the ever-popular Royal Hanneford Circus. Each fast-paced big top show will be comprised of horses, aerialists, magic, acrobatics, clowning, hula hoops and canines. Show tickets may be purchased at the Showgrounds or in advance from Circus World Museum (608) 356-8341.

Special Saturday Attractions, July 15

Special Saturday, July 15th activities will include the 15th Annual Great Circus Parade Breakfast at the War Memorial Center, 8 a.m. to noon. Sponsored by Roundy's, the all-you-can-eat pancake event will include clowns, face painting and other circus surprises. Tickets will be sold at the door at a cost of $5 for adults and $3.50 for children ages 4-12. Children age 3 and younger will be admitted at no charge.

Also on Saturday, from 8 a.m. to 4:30 p.m., Showgrounds visitors will enjoy watching horse teams practicing with their circus wagons, an annual harbinger of The Great Circus Parade.

The Great Circus Parade, July 16

The ten-day circus history festival will conclude on Sunday, July 16, when The Great Circus Parade takes to the streets of downtown Milwaukee at 2 p.m. The Parade is comprised of 2,000 costumed participants, 1,000 musicians, 700 horses, 100 clowns and 50 antique circus wagons from Circus World Museum. This year's 100-unit event will be divided into five sections: Let Freedom Ring, The Circus Kings, Children of All Ages, Scenes of the Old West and Congress of Nations.

Official parade bleacher seats are available at three prime Wisconsin Avenue locations near the beginning of the Parade's three-mile route: Firststar Center, Juneau Square and O'Donnell Park. Each seat is $25, and can be reserved by calling Circus World Museum at (608) 356-8341.

The Great Circus Parade is presented by Circus World Museum with funding provided by The Great Circus Parade, Inc. For more information about the 2000 Great Circus Parade Festival, call Circus World Museum at (608) 356-8341 or visit The Great Circus Parade's web site at www.circusparade.com.

over the last 15 to 20 years," he said. "We will be offering all different types of food that can be found in the top-flight restaurants in Chicago. A Taste of Chicago-type theme is what we're going for in our public pavilions, as well as in our concession locations, which will be found throughout the golf course."

The Merit Club was chosen to host the championship in 1992 when the U.S.G.A. Women's Amateur was held at Kemper Lakes in Long Grove. It was at that time The Women's Committee checked out the Merit Club as a possible future host sight.

"We really liked what we saw," Kendra Graham, Director of Competitions for the U.S.G.A., said at Media Day. "The contract was then signed in 1994." Graham said that the initial course set-up actually started two years ago.

At more than 6,500 yards, Merit Club will play as one of the longest in the championship's history. The fairways will be cut at 7/16 of an inch with the initial rough being cut at 1.5 inches and the primary rough standing at around 3 inches.

"We're hoping it (the course) will play hard and fast," added Graham.

Hard, fast, but true are the greens, which will read about 10 on the stimpometer.

Course Superintendent Oscar Miles, formerly of Butler National in Oak Brook, is to thank for the incredible conditions.

"Oscar has done a miraculous job in a short eight years," said Oldfield.

The actual design of the course was left up to Oldfield and architect Bob Lohman.

But it was the Getz-Oldfield combination that masterminded the evolution of the Merit Club.

It started in 1967 when the Getz family acquired the property with the purpose of running a herd of pure-bred Angus cattle. They ran the herd for many years with as many as 250 mature cows, several of which were national champions that came off Stonhenge Farm, as Getz called it.

"Then subsequently as the area became more fully developed, the pressure was on to make this something more than a cattle farm," he reflected. "When I couldn't get veterinarians or tractor parts, I decided that the ultimate use of this property was for something else."

Getz wanted to keep the land open to prevent rooftops from appearing on the wonderful rolling hillsides.

"So we decided to perhaps go the route of building a golf course," Getz said.

Enter long-time friend Ed Oldfield. Oldfield had been the head golf professional at Glenview Club, where Getz was a member.

"Ed and I had many conversations about my thoughts and ideas of what a golf course ought to be," recalled Getz, Sr. "Ed concurred with my thoughts and told me he would even leave the Glenview. We wanted to build a golf course that was fun and enjoyable. With four sets of tees playable for all handicaps, I think we achieved that."

Initial construction of the course began in 1990 with members first being accepted two years later.

Getz and Oldfield maintained much of the rolling, traditional prairie land.

The terrain includes an oak savannah, a wooded section on the front nine and features meadow prairie terrain with wetlands in the lower areas.

"We planted over 800 trees in strategic areas," said Getz. "They (the trees) are still maturing, so it's going to get even better and more beautiful in upcoming years." The course is part of the Liberty Prairie Conservancy and was recognized in Golf Digest as one of the top new courses in the United States in 1992.

The tournament schedule will include practice rounds Monday through Wednesday with the tournament proper taking place Thursday through Sunday. A junior clinic, "The Spirit of the Game," will be conducted July 17 by famous golf comedian Dennis Walters.

Julie Inkster, of Los Altos, California, will attempt to become only the seventh women's player to repeat as champion. She won the Open last year at Old Waverley in West Point, Mississippi. The 1999 LPGA Player of the Year won the tournament with a four-round total of 15-under-par.

"We are proud to host to 2000 Women's Open Championship," said Getz. "With over 15 countries represented, we're looking forward to watching the world's top players."

SPECIAL EVENT

Latin music featured at Heritage Festival

On Sunday, July 2 at Bowen Park, located at Sheridan Rd. and Greenwood Ave., Waukegan, get ready to rock & roll and dance to the beat of a blend of rhythms of traditional Latin music from Cuba, Puerto Rico, the Dominican Republic and Brazil at the annual Waukegan Heritage Festival hosted by the Waukegan Park District.

Starting at noon, the Main Stage will rock to the rhythms of the '80s-'90s band Beggars Opera until 3 p.m. From 5-6 p.m. the Maddrum Sonando Group will set the park on fire with their blend of Latin funk, Latin Jazz, Latin Rock, boogaloo, R & B Salsoul and Latin Rap. Both of these performances are free to the public. The Main Stage is sponsored by the law firm of Rosing, Smith, Ericksen, Zeit & Stanczak LTD.

"We are thrilled to be able to offer these two incredible groups for the enjoyment of the community at the Waukegan Heritage Festival," said Rik Covalinski, Entertainment Supervisor and one of the festival coordinators, for the Waukegan Park District. "The Main Stage is located between the reviewing stand for the parade and the Haines Museum so anyone coming to hear Beggars Opera will not be missing any of the parade, but instead be right where the action is."

The Children's Stage will feature the Puerto Rican Ballet Folklorico from 4:15-5 p.m. and the well known Andean music group Kauzy from 5-6 p.m.

The Waukegan Park District, encompassing 45 neighborhood and community parks with more than 710 acres of land, serves the culturally diverse community of Waukegan through its traditional and non-traditional parks/sports programming for the entire family as well as leisure programming for senior adults.

Woodstock hosts exhibit

Photographer Robin F. Pendergrast of McHenry, is presenting The Barns Of McHenry County photography exhibit at The Woodstock Opera House, located at 121 W. Calhoun, Woodstock, on the Square, now through June 30.

The exhibit displays a variety of barn architecture from the still-standing barns in McHenry County. Pendergrast is helping to provide recognition for McHenry County's classic agricultural icons. As development spreads across the county, many of these wonderful barn structures are being lost to dilapidation, improper maintenance, fire or vandalism. Over the years, there have been fewer attempts to save them due to modern farming methods and the expense involved in maintaining these family heirlooms. Through photography, and in cooperation with The McHenry County Historical Barn Preservation Assoc., ways to save rare and unique barns for future generations are being tried.

For additional information on locations of future exhibits, contact Robin Pendergrast at (815)363-0933 or visit the web site at www.rfpphoto.com.

The nine-weekend festival offers a vast array of musicians, jugglers, sword fighters, comedians, story-tellers and more to provide over 150 performances daily.

check it out!

"We're very excited about the new artists and special guests featured this year," said Ron Scot Fry, Artistic Director for the faire. "We have a highly energized troupe of interactive street performers." Visitors to the faire have the unique opportunity to mingle and play with such legendary characters as Queen Elizabeth I.

"We're putting even more emphasis on patron interaction this year. And there's something for everyone here at the Bristol Renaissance Faire. Our patrons can actually interact with the Queen and her beautifully attired courtiers, be drafted into the English Military, dance with a horde of colorful peasants and be transported by a host of wildly entertaining characters. And everywhere you roam, you are serenaded by a host of talented musicians," commented Fry.

Also taking to Wyckham Field three times daily is "Hanlon-Lee's Jousting Knights." Hanon Lee is known far and wide for their spectacular stunts on horseback and dashing daring do. Other favorites, Dirk & Guido: The Swordsmen, feature infectious comedy and stellar sword fights in addition to lessons in gentlemanly behavior.

Kids Kingdom is an enchanting village within the village just for the children. Activity highlights include interactive theatre, where the children are the stars of the show and a Knighting Ceremony where every child who wishes may be knighted or made a lady by Queen Elizabeth herself.

The Bristol Renaissance Faire boasts one of the area's largest fine arts marketplaces. Over 170 merchants from around the world are assembled in a Tudor-style market. Rare and one of a kind items are available, including hand-blown glass, jewelry, spun clothing, hammered pewter, candles, carved wooden toys, hand-tooled armor and much more.

As always, the Bristol Renaissance Faire offers a culinary world tour, featuring food and beverage to appeal to all tastes. The faire chefs are busy creating such favorites as fresh roasted turkey legs, English fish & chips, grilled portobello sandwiches, mile high fruit-filled ice cream crepes and Italian ice among others.

The Bristol Renaissance Faire is located just west of I-94 near the Illinois/Wisconsin border in Kenosha. For more information, call 395-7773 or visit the web site at <http://www.renfair.com>.

Cedar Creek settlement to host Strawberry Festival

Strawberries mean summer in Wisconsin, and we can't wait to celebrate the most luscious fruit of the season at Cedar Creek Settlement during Historic Cedarburg's 15th Annual Strawberry Festival, June 24 from 10-6 and Sunday, June 25 from 10-5. Ripe, juicy berries are king, featuring: Cedar Creek Winery's delightful Strawberry Wine, Strawberry Pie, Strawberry Slush, Strawberry Schaum Torte, Strawberry Popcorn, Chocolate-Covered Strawberries, Strawberry Ice Cream and the most delectable home-grown berries by-the-quart. Cedar Creek Settlement is also the site of the famous Sunday Morning Strawberry Pancake Breakfast, 8-10:30 a.m., drawing hundreds of families outdoors for an all-you-can-eat summertime treat.

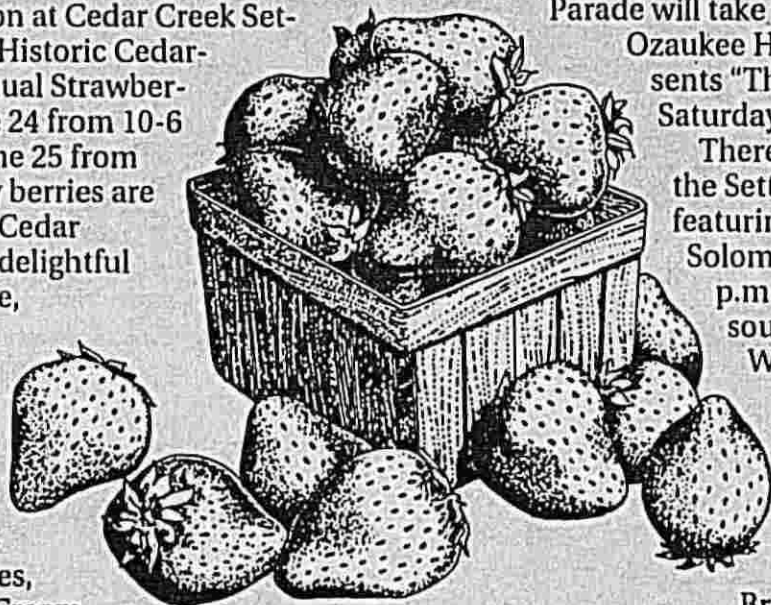

We celebrate the succulent strawberry, but there's plenty of other mouth-watering food to enjoy at the Settlement's Courtyard Grill and Cedar Creek Winery is the place to be for winery tours and wine tasting. Shoppers will enjoy strolling through the Settlement's Strawberry Festival Country Craft Fair, a free indoor-outdoor boutique featuring the work of some of the Midwest's most talented crafters and folk artists at the Cedarburg Community Center. Pets-On-Parade will take the stage when the Ozaukee Humane Society presents "The Pet Pageant" on Saturday at 11 a.m.

There's lively music on the Settlement Mainstage featuring Reggae by King Solomon, Saturday 12-4 p.m., and the Top-40 sounds of Bobby Way & Way Out, Sunday 12-4 p.m. Shannondiah will entertain with traditional Folk Music at Sunday morning's Strawberry Pancake Breakfast from 8-10:30 a.m. Prefer a pie in the face? Cedar Creek Settlement sponsors the Strawberry Pie Eating Contest, the Strawberry Bubblegum Blowing Contest, and the Berry Bob Saturday and Sunday afternoons and the Sundae Eating Contest on Sunday afternoon. For family on the water, scenic Cedar Creek can be explored by renting an ultralight Campanoe for a small fee. Come and celebrate our Strawberry Extravaganza at Cedar Creek Settlement at the corner of Washington and Bridge in Historic Cedarburg, just 20 minutes north of Milwaukee. For more information, call (262) 377-8020 or (800) 827-8020.

HOROSCOPE

Aries - March 21/April 20

Think before you speak when it comes to a family gathering late in the week, Aries. Saying the wrong thing to a loved one is sure to cause you a lot of problems. Try to be nice to everyone. A close friend needs your help with a personal matter. Do what you can for him or her.

Taurus - April 21/May 21

Don't back down from an acquaintance's challenge when you know that you are right, Taurus. Stand up for yourself; you have the facts on your side. Just stay calm, speak truthfully, and you're sure to come out on top. That special someone has a surprise planned for you late in the week. Enjoy, because you deserve it.

Gemini - May 22/June 21

A lot of people are pulling you in different directions this week. Don't spread yourself too thin. Get organized, and set your priorities. That's the only way that you'll know whom to help and whom to tell "no." On Saturday, you run into a friend whom you haven't seen in a while. Spend time catching up with him or her.

Cancer - June 22/July 22

Your sense of humor saves the day on Tuesday when you're involved in a business disagreement. Your jokes lighten a very tense mood and get people talking again. The higher-ups will be impressed with your efforts. Expect a reward for this. Scorpio plays an important role.

Leo - July 23/August 23

Take control of a messy family situation early in the week, Leo. No one else seems to be taking charge; it's time for you to step in. Find out exactly what is going on, and have everyone involved talk things out. It's the only way to resolve the situation. Loved ones will be proud of your initiative.

Virgo - Aug 24/Sept 22

An acquaintance reveals his or her true feelings for you this week, Virgo. Let this person know that you don't reciprocate his or her affection. However, don't be cruel. Let him or her down gently. Be firm, but kind. That special someone asks you an important question. Answer honestly.

Libra - Sept 23/Oct 23

Don't sulk when a loved one rebukes you for making a mistake. This person doesn't mean to hurt you; he or she only wants you to learn from your error. The person whom you've been seeing wants to intensify the relationship. Think about what you really want before saying yes.

Scorpio - Oct 24/Nov 22

Don't let a compliment from a business associate go to your head. Realize that you earned this praise by working hard. This doesn't mean that you no longer have to put in any effort. On the contrary, people expect you to be even more diligent in what you do. Aquarius plays an important role on Thursday.

Sagittarius - Nov 23/Dec 21

There is a lot to do this week, Sagittarius. So, don't get sidetracked. Stay focused on the tasks at hand, and work diligently to make progress. While this will mean canceling some social outings, you'll be able to cross quite a bit off of your "to-do" list. Once that happens, you'll have plenty of time to enjoy yourself.

Capricorn - Dec 22/Jan 20

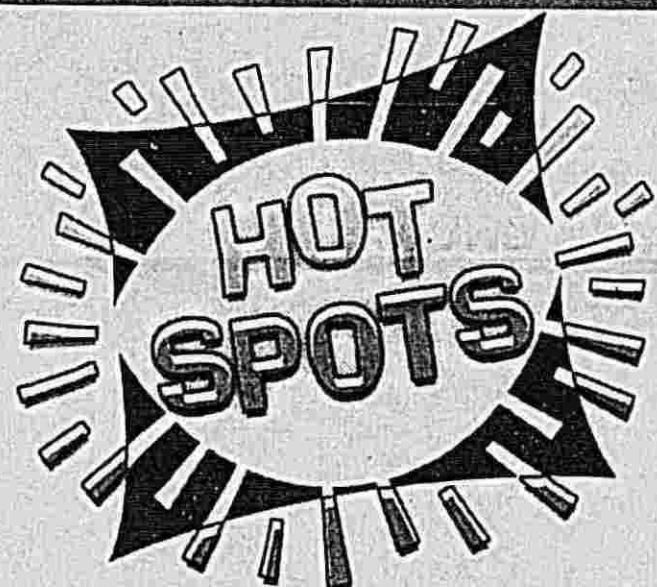

While you want to take charge of a situation at work on Monday, don't. You know that you really aren't the best person for the job. Let someone more qualified take control, and pay attention to his or her actions. This is a great learning opportunity for you. Pisces plays a key role.

Aquarius - Jan 21/Feb 18

Don't let a loved one try to change your mind about a financial decision, Aquarius. You've looked at all of the pros and cons, and you've made your choice. Stand your ground, because only you can decide what's best to do in this situation. A close friend needs a shoulder to cry on. Be there for him or her.

Pisces - Feb 19/March 20

Go after what you want this week, Pisces, and don't let anyone discourage you. If you work hard, you're sure to achieve your goal — no matter what anyone says. Don't forget that!

'60 Seconds' makes up for shoddy characters with intense action

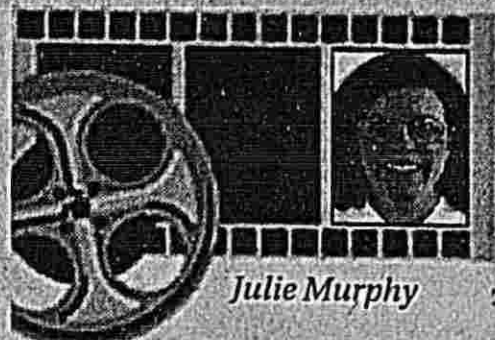

If high speed action, cool cars and car chases are all it takes to deem a movie good entertainment, "Gone in 60 Seconds" has it made.

Randall "Memphis" Raines, played by Nicholas Cage, is a retired car thief of legendary notoriety. He abandoned his life of crime long ago, but gets sucked back into his old life after his kid brother (Giovanni Ribisi) botches a high stakes caper.

The challenge for Memphis is to steal 50 cars within four days or his brother will be executed.

It's a tall order to fill, even for one of Memphis' expertise. He rounds up members of his old gang as well as enlisting the help of his brother and a couple of friends to help him boost every make and model of car imaginable.

By the time this is accomplished and a strategy set, the car thieves are left only 24 hours to execute their crime.

The boosts are deftly handled making it clear that no car is truly safe in real life or in fiction. Every fancy, hi-end, expensive car can be located with ease. No club, lo-jack, or standard alarm can prevent the cars from being stolen within minutes.

The gang is largely able to elude police (Delroy Lindo) while tearing up the streets to accomplish its mission.

The plot didn't leave much to take home and the few attempts to do so were poorly done. Beyond that, the movie progressed in predictable fashion.

There is a scene in which the thieves are psyching themselves up for the long day ahead. As part of their ritual they bow their heads and fold their hands to the song "Low Rider" by War. The scene is so bad it's makes one wonder what footage was left on the cutting room floor.

Character development is also lacking. Angelina Jolie, who gets star billing as Sway, Memphis's love interest, contributes little, if anything, to the movie. It seems the only reason she appears in the movie is to be a sexy female presence with a pouty smile on the movie poster and in a couple of the scenes.

Though the viewer is to feel sympathetic toward the gang of car thieves, there is little redeeming character brought forth, in spite of a cast made up of Academy Award winners and runners-up (also including Robert Duvall).

Though Sway is the past, and potential, love interest of Memphis there is no chemistry between the two. She is overshadowed by his true love interest: a 1967 Ford Mustang Shelby Fastback named Eleanor.

Memphis, a true automobile aficionado, has had an ongoing and trying relationship with Eleanor and the movie's best scenes occur when the two are paired.

A must in movie making, the car chase scene has its own unique variation. A good portion of the high speed chase occurs in reverse. Once things are turned around and moving forward, Memphis and Eleanor pull off a death-defying jump that would make Evel Knievel proud.

The movie's end is among the hokiest ever and is a last ditch effort to provide shallow characters with substance.

In spite of the flaws with the plot and character development, the movie is an enjoyable way to spend a couple of hours. To best enjoy the film, take the bus or drive the beater and leave the good car locked in the garage at home. I give "Gone In 60 Seconds" three and a half popcorn boxes.

'Side Show' raises issues of tolerance, acceptance

"Side Show," a musical inspired by real-life joined-at-the-hip Siamese twins Daisy and Violet Hilton, forms an instant connection with its audience in the Northlight Theatre production at the North Shore Center for the Performing Arts in Skokie.

The play, based on a book and lyrics by Bill Russell with music by Henry Krieger, fascinates with its very first number, the spellbinding "Come Look at the Freaks." The 16-member cast, kept hopping under Joe Leonardo's lively direction, trots out "nature's curiosities" — from the Bearded Lady to Reptile man to the King of the Cannibals. But the beautiful sisters, forever linked, are the main attraction.

The story, which raises questions of tolerance and acceptance, begins with a vaudeville promoter and a young talent scout rescuing the young women from a traveling side show with a promise of bigger and better things. Daisy is eager for a crack at fame. Her introverted sister is more reserved, though she goes along for the ride. They take their song-and-dance act on the road (and, eventually, movies) — only to discover the world still regards them as oddities.

"Side Show" may not plumb the depths of their unusual relationship, but it gives a good perspective on the difficulties — and joys — of being a "double sensation." Such songs as "We Share Everything," "Leave Me Alone" and "I Will Never Leave You" express some of the sentiments felt by these inseparable twins who yearned for nothing more than to lead lives "just like everyone else."

Susie McMonagle, as the outgoing Daisy, finds fame a mixed blessing, while Kristen Behrendt, as Violet, learns a difficult lesson about falling in love. There's nothing maudlin about their performance: The sisters accept their fate and make the most of it.

James Moye gives a strong performance as the manager who wrestles with his inner feelings for Daisy, as does Sam Samuelson, as the voice coach who gets more than he has bargained for when he proposes to Violet. The song, "One Plus One Equals Three" tells it all. Nikkieli De Mone dazzles as Jake, the girls' long-time protector and perhaps most devoted fan. Costumes by Nancy Missimi are excellent.

The real-life Hilton twins, born in 1908 in Brighton, England, were sold at birth to their midwife, who exhibited them from the age of three. They eventually were immortalized in several films, including "Freaks," and died in Charlotte, N.C. in 1969.

"Side Show" runs through July 2. Ticket information is available at 673-6300. —By Tom Witom

'Rosencrantz & Guildenstern Are Dead' hosted by Highwood's Attic Playhouse

"Rosencrantz and Guildenstern Are Dead" by Tom Stoppard presents a very funny worm's-eye-view of a classical tragedy, Shakespeare's "Hamlet." It focuses on the sadly existential but frivolous meanderings of two of "Hamlet's" marginal characters, a pair quarrelsome courtiers named Rosencrantz & Guildenstern who are old friends of Hamlet. Unsure of where they are going (and even of who they are and where they come from) they depend upon others to give their lives meaning. First asked to help the now-crazed Hamlet, the two are later duped into receiving Hamlet's death sentence in his place. The characters from within "Hamlet" appear throughout the comedy, accompanied by a coarse and oftentimes irreverent band of traveling Tragedians (actors) and their leader-the Player, who come upon Rosencrantz and Guildenstern in their travels.

Performances at the Attic Playhouse run through July 16, Friday and Saturday at 8 p.m. and Sunday at 3 p.m. Tickets are $14 advanced purchase and $15 at the door. Special discounts are given to senior citizens, students with ID, military personnel and groups. $29 Dinner packages are available with "Two Guys From Italy Restaurant" located in the same building.

Attic Playhouse is located at 410 Sheridan Rd., Highwood, just north of Route 22/Half Day Rd., one block east of Green Bay Rd., across from the Highwood train station. For more information call 433-2660.

Congregation joins Lutheran Church—Missouri Synod

Beautiful Savior Evangelical Lutheran Church, organized three years ago as an independent congregation, has recently joined the Lutheran Church—Missouri Synod (LCMS), a worldwide Lutheran church body which has over 2.6 million members.

The members of Beautiful Savior and officials of the LCMS celebrated Charter Sunday. At the Sunday morning worship service, Rev. William Ameiss, president of the Northern Illinois District, delivered the sermon and then presented the members of Beautiful Savior with their official charter membership in the LCMS. Gary Hadad, Bill Bachochin, Dennis Odelius, Rich McArthur, Gary James and Mike Adams received the charter for the congregation. Numerous pastors and representatives from other LCMS congregations in the area welcomed Beautiful Savior into synodical membership. Dale Ruff, Bill Bachochin, and the teenagers in the accompanying picture led the worship with beautiful songs of praise.

The congregation presently worships on Sunday mornings at 9 a.m. in a rented church building at 554 Parkway in Antioch, one block west of the intersection of Highway 83 and North Ave. For information about the congregation, call 265-2450.

The congregation is seeking to purchase approximately seven acres of land in the Antioch, Lindenhurst or Millburn townships. Anyone who has land for sale in those townships is invited to contact Gary and Diane Hadad at 973-2799.

A busy summer over at St. Peter

With the boating season curtailed sharply due to the high water on the Chain O' Lakes, everyone in the area has had an abundance of extra time on their hands to do those things you put off for rainy days: clean out the attic, the basement, and the garage. And once those folks went through all the treasures that they no longer wanted, what better place to donate them all to than St. Peter's Annual Rummage Sale?

Well this is your chance to pick up any of those unwanted cast-offs at the St. Peter Rummage Sale. Starting June 22 and continuing on through June 25, you can browse the St. Peter School building for the bargains of the season.

If there is something you need, it's almost guaranteed to be there—from furniture, household items, sporting equipment, jewelry, books, baby items, gardening supplies, holiday and seasonal items, toys and clothes, clothes, clothes. So don your most comfortable walking shoes and head on over to St. Peter School, located at 900 St. Peter St., behind the church. Happy shopping.

The other happening at St. Peter Parish this summer is the ever-popular Market Day Sale. If your school does not carry on a Market Day Sale during the summer, here is your chance to re-stock your freezer with all those unique Market Day goodies. Some of the items on special this month are French toast stix, steakburgers, bagel dogs, seasons salmon and diced chicken tenderloins. The

Telecare calls area seniors

By JULIE MURPHY
Staff Reporter

Community Telecare provides an invaluable service to Antioch Township senior citizens.

The volunteer group makes weekly calls to those seniors who live alone, are shut-in or who have limited mobility. These weekly calls provide comfort and support to the recipients.

Telecare services between 14 and 22 people and has 18 volunteers.

The volunteers make their calls through the Antioch United Methodist Church Monday through Friday beginning at 9 a.m. Coordinator Mary Polley said, "It doesn't make sense for us to pass the log book around and risk losing all of our information, so we make the calls from the church."

She added, "Some calls only take 40 minutes or so, others much longer. Sometimes the person isn't home and we have to follow up. Other people just enjoy chatting with us and those calls can last quite awhile."

Polley explains that the log book contains important information about each of the clients on the call list, including health problems, doctors' names and numbers and a contact person who generally knows the whereabouts of the client.

Polley said it can be an interesting challenge tracking a client. "We have to fully investigate a situation when our clients don't answer the phone. We ask a lot of pertinent questions, but we don't always ask things like, 'What beauty parlor do you go to?' And, we only use the police as a last resort."

In addition to regular check-up calls, Telecare volunteers try to make personal calls to clients on birthdays and Christmas or in the event of hospitalization.

Neither clients nor volunteers have to be members of the Antioch United Methodist Church. Anyone within Antioch Township can request to be placed on the call list. "We don't go into Wisconsin, but we did have one lady who moved south of the bridge into Fox Lake. She was able to keep her same phone number so we left her on the list," said Polley.

Polley stated that while the organization has plenty of people to make calls, it would be nice to have some younger volunteers. "Some of us are old and ailing, but I think in some ways the people we call can relate better to us because of this. One of our volunteers is 90 years old."

Polley reported that the Antioch Rotary Club, Lions Club and Women's Club have been very generous with their financial support. She added that in times of need, the township supervisor has come through with a donation to makes ends meet.

Anyone interested in volunteering or being placed on the call list can contact Community Telecare through the Antioch United Methodist Church at 395-9098.

Loop it up!

The natural beauty of some of the North Shore's finest golf courses, such as Shoreacres GC in Lake Bluff and Onwentsia Club in Lake Forest, just to name a few, is breathtaking.

Furthermore, making an extra $60-70 in cash never hurt anyone. Plus the exercise is second-to-none and you meet some interesting characters along the way.

I make inference to caddying, which has been very good to me for over 17 years. Only I wish I would have taken advantage of what I'm about to share with you.

Outside of the obvious, there are more advantages to caddying, especially for the preps that want to pursue academics after high school.

Enter the Evans Scholarship Foundation, which was established in 1930 by Charles "Chick" Evans Jr., a famed Chicago amateur golfer and winner of the 1916 U.S. Open and U.S. Amateur. The Western Golf Association, which commemorated its centennial last year, has seen more than 7,000 Evans Scholars graduate from the college ranks in its short 70-year history.

Presently, the Evans Scholarship Foundation has over 820 golf caddies attending college as Evans Scholars. The program has grown to become the largest privately funded scholarship program in the nation.

After a series of its annual winter meetings at surrounding Chicago-area country clubs, the Foundation awarded 69 full tuition and housing scholarships to caddies from Illinois for the upcoming academic year.

Students selected will attend one of the 14 universities where the Evans Scholars Foundation owns and operates a Chapter House.

Scholarship winners are selected based on criteria such as caddie and academic records, financial need and character.

Some of the area contingent who will continue on to college via an Evans Scholarship include: Girard S. Hendelman, a Chicagoan and St. Patrick High School grad who caddies at Glen Flora C.C. in Waukegan and will attend the University of Illinois starting in the fall; Wauconda product Alexander D. Hickey, a Mundelein High grad who loops at Ivanhoe Club in Evanston and will attend Indiana University; and, Chicagoan Miguel A. Rosa, a St. Ignatius High grad who caddies at Conway Farms G.C. in Lake Forest and will also attend the U of I.

You ask where are the funds generated. Answer-contributions from more than 100,000 golfers who annually donate more than $5 million to the Foundation. Golfers contribute through the sponsoring Western Golf Association's Bag Tag Program and the WGA Par Club.

In addition, the scholarship program is supported by 23 affiliated golf associations and from proceeds generated by the Advil Western Open, the Chicago area's annual PGA Tour tournament conducted by the Western Golf Association. Evans Scholar Alumni also donate over $1 million annually.

For more information on the Evans Scholarship Program, call (847) 724-4600 or write to the Evans Scholarship Foundation at 1 Briar Road, Golf, Illinois, 60029.

Exercise, cash, networking, socializing, sunshine and a possible education. Any other questions!

Lightning strikes in Wisconsin WYSA Classic

In another strong display of pitching and hitting, the Lake Villa Lightning 10 year-old travelers rolled to four straight victories and the championship in the WYSA 2000 Summer Classic at Fielder's Choice Stadium in Racine, Wisconsin. Over the four games, the Lightning scored 50 runs and pounded out 33 hits while allowing a total of only two hits and recording 48 strikeouts against their opponents!

The tone was set in game one when Jimmy Clancy lined a lead-off home run to right field and Joe Burg tossed a ten strike-out, no-hit complete game against the South Side (Milwaukee) Sting. Burg, Kevin Kelly and Alex Coles each had two hits, including doubles. Kyle Frye added a hit with two stolen bases and two RBI, while Chris Utes contributed by stealing two bases and scoring twice after coaxing two walks. The 19-2 victory was shortened to 3 innings by the Tournament's "Mercy" rule.

Game two featured another pitching gem as Kyle Stroup tossed the second straight no-hitter for the Lightning while recording eight strikeouts in another "Mercy" rule game. The impressive 12-2 victory over the Milwaukee Angels was led offensively by Joey DeBernardis' two hits and two RBI, Bobby Norwick's RBI triple and Frye's RBI double.

In game three, a hard fought 12-7 victory over a scrappy Wisconsin team from Cudahy St. Francis, Randy Ratajczyk led the way with three hits, including a double and Adam Goetch chipped in with a single and two stolen bases. DeBernardis pitched 3 1/3 innings, striking out nine in picking up the win to secure the Lightning the top seeding in the championship round. Stroup and Burg mopped up the game for the Lightning with each fanning two.

After Saturday's round of games, the 2000 Summer Classic inaugurated the tournament's first ever "Home Run Derby." Each team in the tournament had one player representative and the exciting event was held in an "electric" atmosphere before a packed and very loud stadium crowd. DeBernardis, representing the Lightning 10 year-olds, won the contest by blasting two home runs, the first of which was a prodigious 275-foot blast well over the 200-foot fence.

The championship game featured a rematch against the Angels and the Lightning completed their weekend sweep with 7-1 victory over the talented Milwaukee team. DeBernardis led the attack with a double, two runs scored and two RBI with Stroup and Clancy each contributing a hit and a run scored. The highlight of the game was a dominating one-hit, 17-strikeout complete-game performance by Stroup, resulting in the second straight tourney championship for the Lightning. Next weekend, the Lightning travel to Waukesha seeking their third straight tournament championship in the Firebirds Invitational 2000.

The Lightning would like to thank their sponsors Robert E. Frank Real Estate, U-Line, Prism Mortgage/Karen Frye, Securities America/Bill Utes. The Lake Villa Lightning are coached by Dennis Kelly, Jeff Goetsch, Ken Ratajczyk, John Debernardis, Dave Unrein and Managed by Rich Coles. They would also like to thank the BEST Baseball Parents of all. The Lake Villa Lightning will be hosting The AABC 10-year-old State Tournament, July 12th -15th at the Lake Villa Baseball Park.

Fabulous '50s

Anyone attending the annual Long Grove Strawberry Festival should do their taste buds a favor. Warn them ahead of time they will be inundated by tangy, ripe fruit and rich, sweet chocolate. After all, what would a strawberry festival be without that delicious scarlet fruit dipped in a bath of decadent milk chocolate?

For many years, Long Grove Confectionery Co. has been up to the challenge and this year is no exception.

"It gets kind of crazy. We have large metal trays filled with nothing but chocolate-covered strawberries. We even bring in extra dippers for the festival just to keep up," says Laura at the shop, who will no doubt want to sit down when the festival is over.

Available at the shop and a booth, the fresh strawberry treats are sold by the pound.

But strawberries are just the start of the annual extravaganza. The festival, to be held in the historic district the weekend of June 23 from 10 a.m.-6 p.m. daily, will this year celebrate not just the fab fruit but the era known as the fabulous '50s.

With nostalgic attractions and entertainment, in addition to the usual tempting array of strawberry concoctions and strawberry-theme merchandise, the event will bring back the decade of sock hops, malt shops, poodle skirts and hula hoops.

A 50's look-alike contest will take place on Saturday at 1 p.m. in the center of town, followed by a hula-hoop twirl off at 2 p.m. The look-alike contest repeats at the same time on Sunday. From 2-4 p.m., an Elvis impersonator will perform at Towner Green across from the Village Tavern. A "Hop and Shop Sock Hop" from 5-6 p.m. winds up the weekend's events.

Additional music with a 50's flair will be presented on Saturday and Sunday by Mobile J's Disc Jockey, the Mix Road Crew from station 101.9 FM, and the Oldies 104.3 Music Machine. Banjo Buddies and the North Shore Harmonizers return to the fest this year lending a 50's touch to repertoires of old favorites.

Also making a comeback is the Long Grove Lions Club "Classic Car Show" on Saturday from 10 a.m.-3 p.m., at Towner Green and free tours of the Long Grove Historical Society's 1850s farmhouse on Saturday and Sunday from 11 a.m.-2 p.m.

Traditions such as Strawberry Festival are a key element in historic Long Grove, and a new one has begun with the help of an old friend of Chicagoland, says John Mangel, businessman and driving force in the shopping district.

Veteran talk-radio host Wally Phillips is broadcasting a program geared to the 50-plus crowd from Seasons restaurant on Saturdays throughout June and July from 9-11 a.m. The show airs on station WAIT 850 on the AM dial. "We hope to renew the contract through October," Mangel says.

For further information about historic business district happenings, call the Merchants Association at 634-0888.

Hensley heads Wilmot sprint invasion

Wilmot Speedway is being invaded! Raymond Hensley of the Lake Villa-based Avon Automotive team will lead the J&L Oil/United Expressline Interstates Racing Association (IRA) Outlaw Sprints traveling sprint car warriors first stop of the season at the one-third mile clay oval on Saturday, June 24.

Hensley, now living in Trevor, Wis., scored a second place finish at Raceway @ Powercom Park on June 16 and a last lap win on June 17 at Dodge County Fairgrounds Speedway. Hensley holds the IRA point lead by 62 points over 7-time champion Joe Roe.

Blake Feese, 18-year-old from Mattoon, held off a late charge from Hensley to win at Powercom. The two traded finishing positions on the one-half mile at Dodge County the following night with Hensley getting the lead on the white flag lap.

Fred Ebler, who ranks 10th in the IRA points, from Gurnee scored a heat race win at Dodge County.

In the IMCA modified portion of the program at Powercom, Mike Sandholm from Kenosha, Wilmot's current point leader, scored an impressive win over the locals. Rob Olson from Lake Villa finished third in the main event.

The traveling IRA stars are expected to receive a strong challenge from the Star Trac regulars from Wilmot in the Ray & Raymond Chevrolet-Oldsmobile of Antioch and Fox Lake Jamin' In June Night event at Wilmot.

Dave Moulis from Johnsburg, current Wilmot point leader and past IRA and Wilmot champion, will lead the locals in defense of their home turf. A field of over 50 sprint cars are expected.

COUNTY DIGEST

Rain totals tallied

The Lake County Stormwater Management Commission (SMC) used its network of rain gauges to determine rainfall totals that resulted in flooding in some areas of the county including Antioch. Labeling it a "significant" 48-hour storm event, the rainfall between June 11-13 was recorded as follows:

- Antioch Wastewater Treatment plant had 6.25 inches.
- Des Plaines River near Gurnee had 1.9 inches.
- Round Lake had 2.92 inches.
- Des Plaines River at Russell had 4 inches.

SMC's local rain gauges provide rainfall readings 24 hours per day, year-round.

Mosquito count up

The Clarke Environmental Mosquito Management Company said Northeastern Illinois residents should brace themselves for one of the heaviest mosquito invasions in years. Heavy rainfall and warm weather are creating near-perfect conditions for floodwater mosquitoes. The species will be hatching to peak beginning June 23 through July 4, just in time for holiday festivities.

According to Clarke, the best way to combat the pests is to eliminate breeding grounds with stagnant waters including old tires, trash containers, and recycle bins. Keeping drains, ditches and culverts clear of weeds and garbage is advised for proper drainage.

County declared flood disaster area

By SANDY HARTOGH
Staff Reporter

Excessive spring rains, resulting in flash flooding along the Des Plaines and Fox Rivers, has prompted Gov. George Ryan to declare Lake and McHenry counties disaster areas.

"It is a first big step," said Ward Miller, executive director of Lake County's Stormwater Management Commission (SMC). "With the Governor's declaration, a lot of state resources can be used to help us out." Lake County communities hardest hit by the flood waters were Antioch and Gurnee.

Antioch's flood woes peaked on June 13 with a total rainfall of 7.98 inches within a four-day span.

Fifty homes and businesses in Gurnee were knee-deep in water when the Des Plaines River crested at 10.2 feet June 16. This flood stage was approximately 1 foot lower than the 1986 Gurnee flood that wiped out millions of dollars in residential, business and community property.

Illinois Emergency Management Agency (IEMA) director Mike Chamness, and the Illinois Department of Transportation toured the afflicted areas before the governor's declaration was announced June 20.

"The excessive rainfall and flooding have caused damage to homes, businesses, farms, agricultural levees, roads and other property," stated Ryan in his declaration. "This disaster declaration will enable the state to continue to provide resources to assist in disaster response and cleanup efforts."

The cost of damages has not been determined as of yet, but Gurnee Public Information Officer Brad Burke stated there will be reimbursement to the public entities who provided equipment, materials and personnel to assist in the cleanup efforts.

"At this point in time, no word has come as to whether private

Road expansion gets ire from officials, residents

By SANDY HARTOGH

St. Basil's Church in Mettawa overflowed with Green Oaks and Mettawa area residents who wanted to voice their opposition to the proposed widening of St. Mary's Rd. from Rtes. 137 to 60.

The proposal, labeled by Lake County Board member Martha Marks (R-Riverwoods Dist. 21) as a "red herring," is a part of two possible alternatives that the Lake County Transportation Improvement Project (LCTIP) has chosen from nine original options to reduce gridlock within the county.

The widening of St. Mary's from two to four lanes is part of a proposed improvement package which includes changes to Rtes. 12, 45 and 83. The other alternative being offered is the Rte. 53 extension and a Rte. 120 bypass.

A public forum, hosted by Marks and State Rep. Susan Garrett (D-Lake Bluff), brought well over 100 residents and government officials to the small church to denounce the proposal and grill the LCTIP about other traffic problems in the county.

"The real purpose of this meeting is to make sure there is an open and public discussion on this proposal," stated Garrett, who is against the St. Mary's Rd. plan. "We wanted to ensure that there is open communication between the LCTIP and everyone who will be affected by this proposal."

Although the cut-off for the public comment period on the proposals was June 9, LCTIP deputy project manager Chris Snyder assured the audience their comments would be

Taxes may rise to fund new road improvements

By BECKY DUBA
Staff Reporter

The Lake County Board has recognized traffic congestion as a major problem and concern for residents. Because of this, it will soon be conducting an opinion poll that will question people's thoughts on issues such as congestion, roadway improvements and funding.

The survey will be a random sampling of Lake County residents conducted by phone interviews. A third party company will handle the survey and devise the questions.

"A phone survey is the best way to obtain a random sample," said Joe Chekouras of the Lake County Communications Department.

Recreational vehicle parks raise a silent ruckus

By SANDY HARTOGH
Staff Reporter

Recreational campgrounds, an existing staple of Lake County's economy for more than 30 years, have been under fire for the last couple of months.

Residential and county official complaints in reference to the appearance of a few of the 29 RV parks in the county have lead county officials to consider new regulations relating to issues such as safety, appearances and usage.

An informational public meeting, held at Emmons School in Antioch, was provided by county officials to help promote dialogue between the government and residents who will be affected by the potential regulations.

However, an angry atmosphere permeated the school gymnasium because many residents and RV park owners were under the impression that they would be able to speak their mind openly at the meeting. As it was, they were handed comment and survey forms that were collected for future perusal by the county's Planning, Building and Development Dept. The survey broached such subjects as deck and porch sizes, seasonal operation and separation distances between recreational vehicles.

The department plans to use the information as a guideline to develop new regulations and/or amend existing ones.

"We thought this was going to be a hearing where we could publicly make comments and get answers right away," said Shari Diebold of Parrot's Cove Resort & Bar in Antioch. "We can't keep up with the ordinances anymore."

Lake County Board member Judy Martini (R-Antioch Dist. 1) stated that the purpose of the "silent" meeting was to give homeowners a chance to give their comments without getting pressured by RV park owners.

"This was the best way to handle the meeting because it is a controversial issue," she said.

"We think more people will talk if they don't stand in front of a microphone...emotions are running high," concurred board member Larry Leafblad (R-Grayslake Dist. 6) who is in the doghouse with many RV park owners after referring to some parks as "Dog-patch."

Although RV park regulations have already been passed under the new Unified Development Ordinance, Leafblad said the county will go back and "fine-tune" the RV ordinances by getting input from the residents. He mentioned two problems perceived by county board members; illegal year-round use of some RVs, and the fact that renters are not contributing property taxes.

"It seems all backwards that they passed this ordinance (UDO) and then they have this meeting," said Diebold.

"The homeowners have a right to talk but they don't have the right to put us out of business."

"RV parks were here long before some of these homeowners," stated Bob Pelzer, co-owner of the Dolphin Harbor in Antioch. "They forget that we provide tourism for Lake County. Most of the campgrounds are associated with marinas. If the campgrounds close, the marinas close. The whole lakes area would diminish and homeowners would lose access to the lakes."

Pelzer admitted that every RV park fails in some area of regulation, but he noted that park owners are worried that rules will be enforced not only for new parks but for existing ones as well.

Phil Rovang, director of the planning and development department stated that a "grandfather clause" would exempt parks that existed prior to 1976 from the new regulations as long as they didn't move or expand in density.

"We're afraid that the county will regulate us into losing space due to setback requirements," Pelzer continued. "If our property loses its value, we lose the investment we made based on the county giving its seal of approval as a licensed facility."

"This is wonderful," claimed Leafblad. "We are hearing people who are genuinely angry. Some people think this is a plot against RV parks. This is anything but. We are trying to find a solution—something that we can enforce."

"The question is, how do we regulate for RV parks and get enjoyment for renters of pads in RV parks without being a nuisance to neighbors," stated Rovang.

Lakeland scholarship recipient aspires to writing editorials

By ROBERT WARDE
Managing Editor

Though Michelle Stawarski discovered her love of writing in high school, it wasn't until she began attending the College of Lake County that her interest turned to journalism.

The recipient of the 2000 M.R. Schroeder/Lakeland Newspaper Scholarship now loves both.

"I loved writing. I started in high school, but didn't get involved in journalism until I worked on the Chronicle," she said.

The 1998 graduate of Stevenson High School comes from a family heavily involved in finance. Her mother is a branch manager of Bank One in Mundelein, her father a salesman for Circuit City in Vernon Hills. Her family is completed by a sister, Cristina, 22, and brother Robert, 17. They reside in Vernon Hills.

Stawarski admires writers Mia Angelou, Bob Green and Sylvia Path.

She hopes to write editorials or have her own column in the future. After completion of her studies at CLC, Stawarski will attend Columbia College in Chicago.

The M.R. Schroeder/Lakeland Newspaper Scholarship is awarded each year to a worthy first-year CLC student who shows promise of making a career in print journalism.

homeowners and businesses will receive reimbursement for their losses," commented Burke.

Miller said the next step is to determine if enough damage occurred to warrant a presidential disaster declaration.

"That could free up assistance to individuals. We could see some taxpayers' dollars returned to Illinois," explained Miller.

The state's declaration also allows for estimation of damages to determine if the counties qualify for a Small Business Administration Declaration or other forms of federal assistance.

State Rep. Timothy Osmond (R-Antioch) is already on the ball in that respect. He has contacted U.S. Congressman Philip Crane (R-Palatine) to request federal assistance.

"The townships and villages have had to deal with many problems due to the flooding and additional federal assistance would be a great help," stated Osmond.

The IEMA is responsible for coordinating the state's response to flood areas within the county. Assistance is being provided by IDOT, the Illinois Dept. of Corrections, the Salvation Army and the American Red Cross.

TAXES

Right now, the third party company has not been decided on. Chekouras said that in a 'best case scenario' they may find one and begin the survey in roughly two weeks.

Director and County Engineer of the Division of Transportation Martin Buehler said, "In April of last year, the board identified a set of transportation improvements, but there is no funding. So, the survey will ask what people feel about benefits they will receive versus tax increases."

Buehler commented that the main revenue for transportation improvements will come directly from tax increases.

"We're conducting the survey to have current information to judge what people are thinking," Buehler said.

Lake County Board Chair Jim LaBelle said in a written statement, "Alleviating traffic congestion and funding for transportation is one of the highest priorities of the county board. Currently we have enough to maintain the road system but have very little to increase capacity to relieve congestion."

Chekouras said that until the third party company is found, they will not know exactly what types of questions will be asked.

part of the "overall project record." However, he stressed there were "no easy answers" to the congestion problems.

Marks reiterated her belief the St. Mary's project is a "red herring" and a "divide and conquer" tactic to get residents riled up enough to advocate the Rte. 53 extension to which she is staunchly opposed.

"The Lake County Dept. of Transportation has authority over St. Mary's," stressed Marks. "It does not plan to widen the road and never had plans to widen it."

Marks accused the LCTIP, which is a conjunction of the Illinois Tollway Authority and the Illinois Dept. of Transportation, of working in "cahoots" for years to promote the Rte. 53 extension. She blasted their public relations tactics, claiming that $1.2 million of tax and tollway revenues were being spent on an international PR firm, Hill and Knowlton, noted for their liaisons with cigarette manufacturers. She also told the audience that "phony" citizens groups like "Citizens to Protect Quality of Life for Better Transportation" were part of LCTIP's plan to induce citizens to support the Rte. 53 extension.

"If your message is right, it will fly by itself. You don't need to spend $1.2 million to get the message out there," said Marks, who later noted that Butterfield Rd., which is also part of the proposed alternatives, should be considered instead of taking out "one of the last peaceful roads in Lake County."

Marks also brought up the discrepancies in the projected cost for the Rte. 53 extension, claiming that the county board was given a $800 million figure after the tollway authority originally told Gov. George Ryan that it would cost $1.8 billion.

Snyder lashed back by stating the LCTIP had the full endorsement of the county board when it was initiated.

"LCTIP was approved very early in the process as a concept to get professional services," countered Marks.

Snyder told the audience the St. Mary's Rd. bypass was not a red herring. He said it was selected because it had the fewest number of displacements.

"This is a relationship between land use and transportation," explained Snyder, who noted that congestion will double by the year

2020. "There are too many people working and not enough roads."

"Why would you use a country road that does not have a piece of commercial property on it? It has historic significance as well as beauty," stated State Rep. Andrea Moore (R-Libertyville) who is opposed to the St. Mary's bypass, but supports the Rte. 53 extension.

Snyder said the roadway alternatives targeted the worst congested routes and best combination of improvements, which include the widening of St. Mary's.

Several people agreed with Marks, claiming the St. Mary's proposal was not part of the original nine options. However, Snyder said earlier maps distributed and displayed at public meetings held last August do depict bypass options. Those options, which included St. Mary's Rd., were given further descriptions and range of impact on additional displays said Snyder.

Many members of the audience brought up the subject of improvements to existing intersections, suggesting that the LCTIP conduct studies on those improvements before moving on to bigger projects such as road widening.

"We need to improve major intersections first with synchronized traffic lights and turn lanes. We need to look at the county regionally," stated Garrett.

Another item of interest to the residents included the extension of bike paths through Lake County to accommodate the 5 percent of citizens who walk or ride bikes to get around. A College of Lake County student claimed there were many teachers and students at the college who would be happy to ride their bicycles if there were a bike path leading to the school.

One resident jabbed at the opponents of the Rte. 22 extension in Lincolnshire claiming that Routes 176, 137 and 60 back up because Rte. 22 remains a tiny, rural country road.

"Why do the people of Libertyville have to reduce the value of their property while Lincolnshire continues to vote against the widening of Rte. 22?" he pondered.

Other concerns included the preservation of trees along St. Mary's Rd. and the wildlife that would be displaced and killed by motorists if the proposal were approved.

AT A GLANCE

A DIGEST OF STORIES MAKING HEADLINES THROUGHOUT OUR REGION

Village center flood recedes quickly

Gurnee—Excessive rainfall throughout the spring finally took its toll on the Des Plaines River on

According to Brad Burke, spokesman for the Village of Gurnee, the river rose above flood level, causing major problems in the Village Center area.

On June 15, the area between Rte. 132 to the south, Rte. 41 to the north, O'Plaine Rd. to the east and Rte. 21 to the west, became severely affected by the rising water. Streets in the area were shut down due to excessive water.

The river crested on June 16, at 10.2 feet, 1.3 feet below the 1986 flood levels.

After the crest, the river receded down to manageable level quickly—a break the village needed.

"Once the water started going down, it went radically. It went much faster than we expected," Village Administrator Jim Hayner said. "It was all gone by Saturday (June 17). The roads were open. There was some damage but no where near '86."

In all, some fifty homes and businesses were affected by the flood. There is not yet an estimate on the total cost of damages caused by the flooding.

Ice cream trucks banned

Round Lake Park—The jingling bells of neighborhood ice cream trucks will soon be a thing of the past in Round Lake Park.

Round Lake Park Village Board officials have passed an ordinance which will eliminate street peddlers from conducting business on publicly owned property.

What does the move mean for residents? No more neighborhood ice cream peddlers will be able to sell their products to children in Round Lake Park.

Mayor Ila Bauer pointed out that she had witnessed a near-accident, involving a neighborhood youth.

As a result, the mayor decided to take a proactive approach and brought the issue before the village board.

As of April 30, 2001, which marks the end of the fiscal year, the village will no longer issue new licenses to street peddlers, Bauer said.

Noisy flag issue ends with citation

Grayslake—A Grayslake resident, who was issued a noise citation after plastic clips banging against a metal flagpole in front of his home became too much for some neighbors to handle, has been sentenced by a circuit court judge.

Thomas Labarbera, who lives on Trestle Ct., was fined $100 in a Grayslake courtroom for disturbing the peace.

Some neighbors had complained that on windy nights they could hear the flag's plastic clips banging on the hollow, 15-foot metal pole. The noise had allegedly awakened neighbor Terry Horan and his family, whose property sits about 16 feet from the pole.

"It's an issue of noise—period," commented Cmdr. Matt McCutcheon, of the Grayslake Police. "Nobody is anti-flag, especially the police department."

Village passes nuisance property law

Mundelein—The Chronic Nuisance Property Ordinance, passed by the Mundelein Village Board at its regularly scheduled meeting, will give the police department more leverage in cracking down on households that are the sites of repeated crimes.

The law gives police the authority to close properties where three or more "nuisance activities" take place during a 120-day period.

The village defined nuisance activities a long list of crimes and violations of village code. The focus of the list targets properties where illegal activities related to gangs are common.

If three or more of these laws are broken on a single property within the time span, the court can order the property to be closed and secured against all use and occupancy from 30-180 days and fine the owner of the property from $100-$500 per day for each day the owner had actual knowledge that the property was a chronic nuisance property.

Residents sue village over sewage

Antioch—Attorney Garth Yore was contacted by a group of residents from Antioch who had problems with sewage backing up into their homes.

Yore said, "Approximately 100 homes have sewage in them—a whole floor of raw sewage including toilet paper and water."

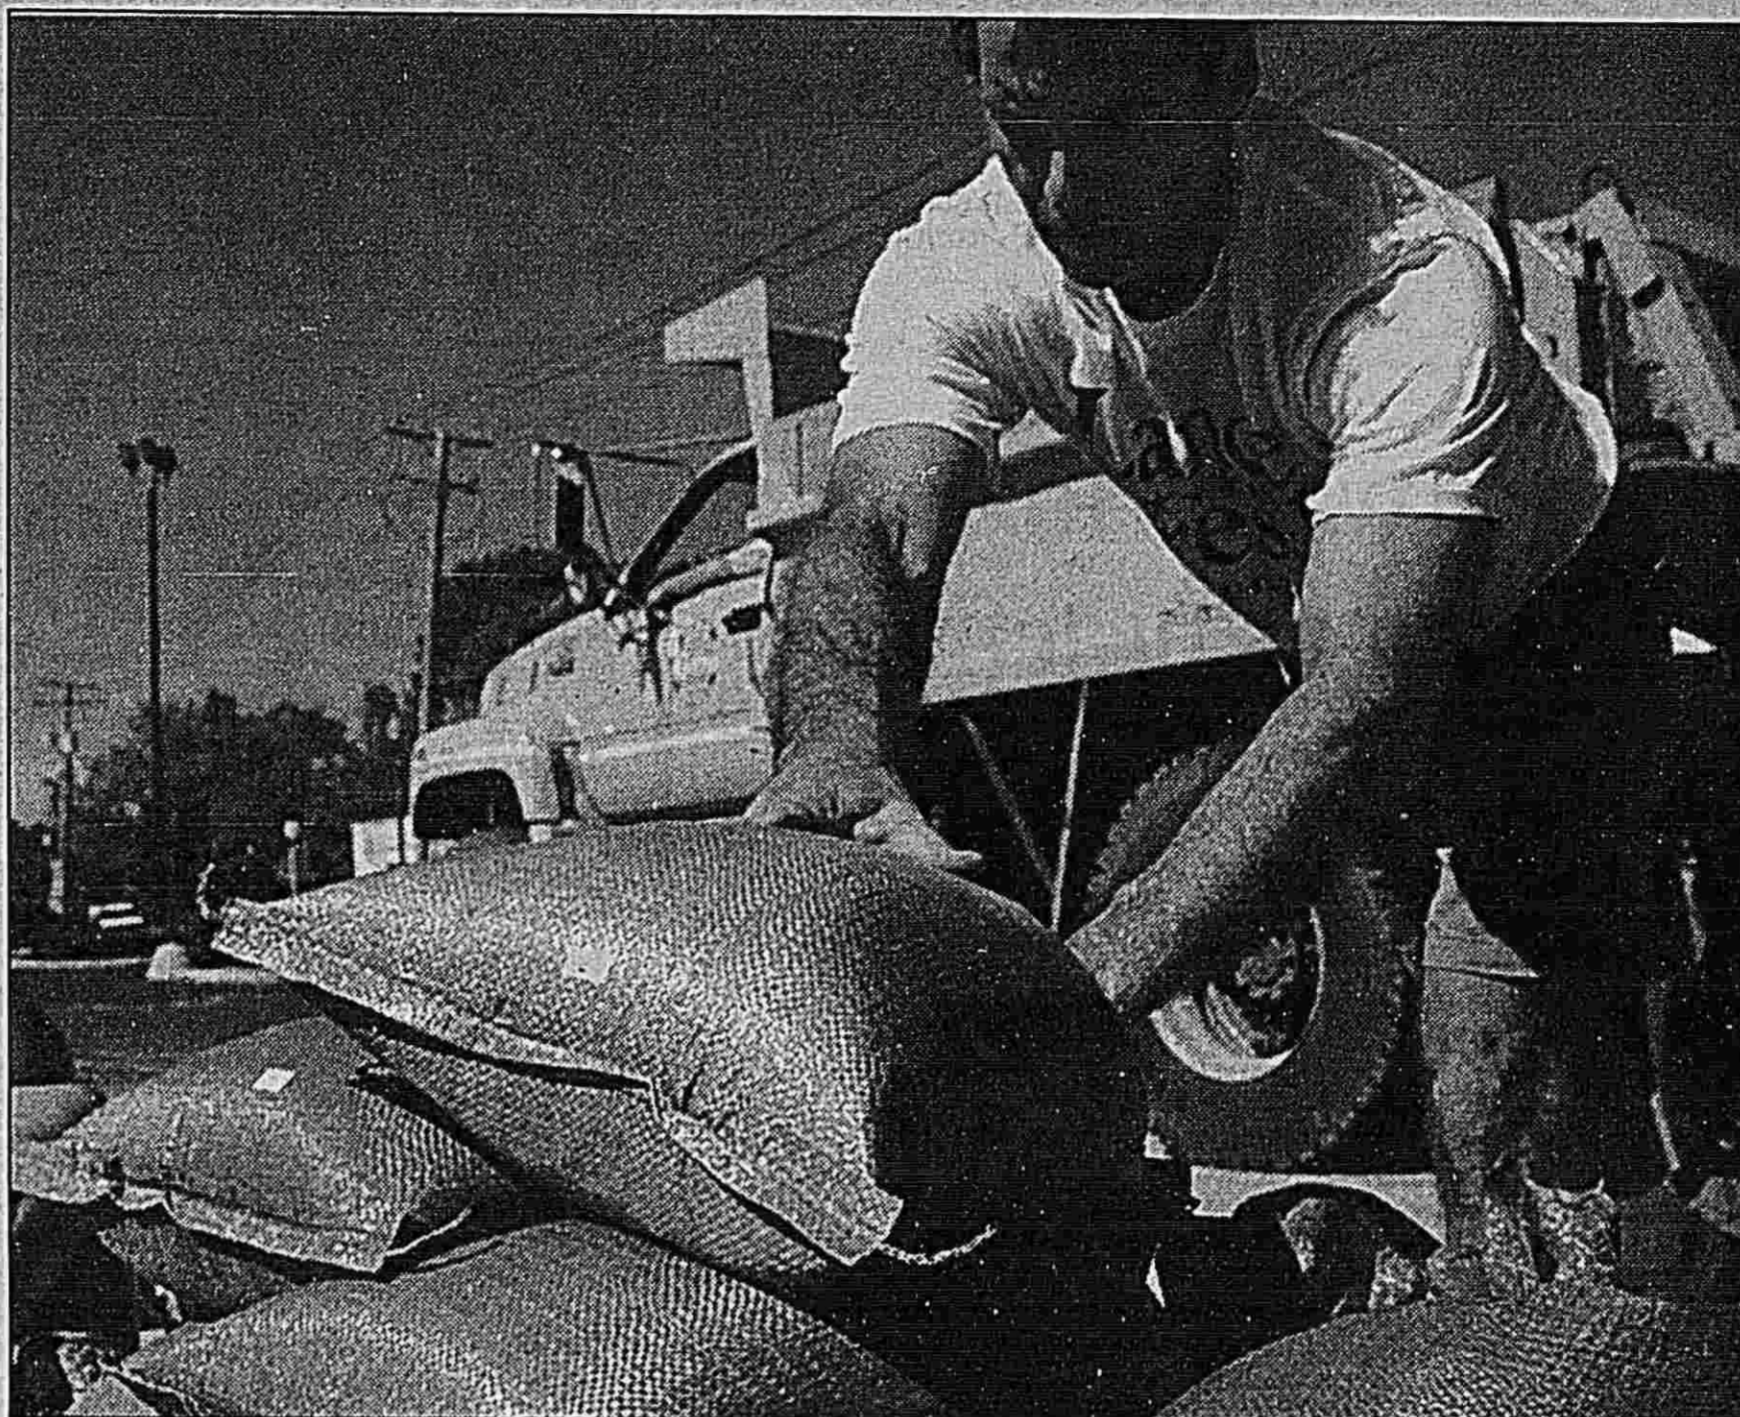

Yore contends that the Village of Antioch knew these residents had problems with the sewage system backing up into their homes and were in effect sitting on a "ticking time bomb."

He said the group contacted him in hopes he would be able to help them get back to status quo. Issues of particular concern to the residents are disinfecting their homes and what this will do to their home values when it comes time to sell. State law mandates that owners disclose problems with basement leakage and sewer/septic problems.

Village rejects crossing guard idea

Gurnee—Three lanes of west bound traffic and two lanes of east bound traffic with one north bound turn lane lie for children and adults to cross at the intersection of Route 132 and Great America Parkway in Gurnee. What lies in place to direct them is a signaled cross walk sign and a white striped cross walk across the road.

The topic of the treacherous 'Great America to Burger King

Death Run' was brought to the Gurnee Village Board's attention by resident Ron Sartin prior to this week's meeting. His suggestion was to place two police guards at the intersection to direct pedestrian traffic.

"I've looked at the situation and with Burger King closed right now, there is zero pedestrian traffic," Police Chief Robert Jones said. "I also pulled the history for the last five years at the intersection and there has only been one accident. It was a 25 year old woman who walked out in front of a car and I don't think a crossing guard would have helped her situation."

Chief Jones also commented that because of the park's hours, it would employ six full time officers.

Board asked to reconsider candidate

Wadsworth—Despite the board's rejection of trustee candidate Terrence Carden, Wadsworth Mayor Evelyn Hoselton has refused to back down.

The mayor said numerous trustees stated that they did not feel comfortable in selecting Carden, because they did not have the opportunity to interview other candidates.

As a result, Hoselton invited each candidate, included Carden, to the latest regular board meeting.

Board members advised the mayor that they would not conduct random candidate interviews without a formal appointee.

Hoselton chose, however, not to appoint an alternate candidate. Instead, she pleaded with board members to reconsider Terrence Carden for the position.

After the board refused, Hoselton stated plans to contact her lawyer George Riseborough on the issue.

District 128 sells St. Marys property

Libertyville—Libertyville and Vernon Hills High School District 128 officials approved the sale of 40 acres of land along St. Mary's Rd. in Mettawa.

The district initially voted to accept bids on the property at a board meeting in April.

A winning bid was submitted by Louis, George and Peter Palivos, along with their brother-in-law James Bousis. Board members approved their bid in the amount of $1,900,500.

The men stated they plan on building homes on the site for their respective families. The land will be divided into four 10-acre lots. In a letter to the board, Louis Palivos told officials he plans on keeping as much open space as possible on the site.

"The emphasis of our development will be open spaces," he said, later adding his family is "committed to retaining the open space concept of the existing land."

The decision came as a result of study by the Brainerd Task Force, a group assembled to investigate the potential benefits of selling land the district owns. The task force previously advised officials that the Brainerd property, which is closer to Libertyville High School's Butler Lake campus, would be more useful to students.

Neighbors, restaurant to debate issues

Fox Lake—The success of a new Fox Lake eatery and bar has overwhelmed its closest neighbors.

Residents, owner Mark Hoffman, and village officials will be meeting in the near future to iron out worries of residents who live nearby the restaurant, opened on the south side of Fox Lake for less than a month.

"I can't come home and relax without listening to their music, and that is when four doors are closed and the TV playing. When there is an outside band, it is a lost cause," said resident Bob Ferris, one of a half-dozen speakers at a village board meeting.

Traffic, the out-of-town nature of customers and hours were main issues brought before trustees. Mayor James Pappas pledged that village is indeed tough but fair on restaurant owners in his capacity as liquor commissioner. A meeting of all parties will be coordinated by the village staff.

Water main construction halted

Island Lake—Lake County Stormwater Management Commission (SMC) has halted construction at an Island Lake water main.

The area in question is Darrell Rd. and Rte. 176.

Ward Miller, executive director of the SMC, said Island Lake could continue work on the water main if conditions are met.

"We have been working with a private landowner who filled in without a permit. The village can work there after inspections, if it removes equipment from the area in violation," said Miller.

Miller has discussed the issue with Island Lake Mayor Charles Amrich.

In the meantime, the SMC is considering legal action against the private landowner, and the matter has been turned over to Lake County prosecutors.

Lindenhurst car accident injures two

Lindenhurst—An obstructed view and a hasty left-hand turn may have caused a two-car crash on June 19 at the intersection of Grand Ave. and Granada in Lindenhurst.

According to Lindenhurst Police, Robert J. Buehler, 39, of Lindenhurst, was driving his 1969 red Chevrolet Camaro westbound on Grand Ave. sometime before 11:25 a.m.

Buehler stopped in the left-hand westbound lane, preparing to make a left turn onto Granada. His view was obstructed by a large vehicle, blocking his view of curbside traffic in the eastbound lane.

Believing the road was clear, he began his turn. At that point, a 1999 maroon Jeep Cherokee, driven by Jack C. Hindert, 33, of Roscoe, appeared in the eastbound curbside lane. The vehicles collided slightly south of the center of the intersection.

Both cars suffered severe front-end damage.

Buehler's passenger, Daniel Dietz, of 58 Hickory Dr. in Lindenhurst, complained that he was unable to see. Neither Buehler nor Dietz was wearing a seatbelt.

One of Hindert's back-seat passengers, a 10-year-old boy, complained of pains in his neck and back.

Both Dietz and the boy were taken to Condell Medical

Westward Ho vote hailed as practical

Ever since powerful Waukegan political leaders beat down a serious effort more than 40 years ago to relocate the county seat to a more central location in Lake County, county government by bits and pieces has been relocating, mostly to the Libertyville area.

Led by the energetic supervisor of Elia Township, the late Phyllis Froelich, the relocation movement narrowly was headed off in conducting a referendum on situating the courthouse on a spot off Belvidere Rd. west of the future Tri-State Tollway. There was a strong belief at the time voters would have approved the more central location.

Latest step westward is a decision to situate part of the planning and building department on land owned by the county adjacent to Winchester House and the Dept. of Transportation headquartered on Winchester Rd. in a $3.6 million building project. The relocation project is part of a $24.6 million capital improvements program. County Chairman Jim LaBelle (R-Zion) characterizes the program as "extraordinary... money that would just be laying around otherwise."

Arguments in favor of the relocation spending centered around the fact that most of the building going on is in west Lake County; that, plus a healthy economy providing abundant revenue. Let the good times roll! Convenience doesn't come without a cost.

Demos in revolt? New face to tell

Formation of the League of Independent Democrats of Northeast Illinois deserves more than a passing glance. Vowing to focus on issues, not personalities, the new political organization can be seen as a slap at the leadership of State Sen. Terry Link (D-Vernon Hills) who has dominated Democratic politics in Lake County for most of the past decade.

On the surface, the formation of a revitalized Democratic group indicates a shift of liberal activism from Highland Park back to Waukegan, a traditional party stronghold with a blue collar face. A new party "power couple" has emerged in the persons of County Board Rep. Peggy Shorts (D-Waukegan) and her husband, Bill, an announced candidate for Waukegan mayor in the 2001 elections. Former State Rep. John Matijevich, a highly respected member of the Illinois General Assembly for more than 24 years, is among the charter members. One of the organizers described himself as a "grunt and groan" Democrat. That sounds like a grassroots, nuts and bolts political organization.

Aside from factional and regional differences among Democrats, the new organization is evidence of a changing political picture in Lake County. Democrats are aiming at parity and more. With a pragmatic viewpoint and a friendly, hard-working style, Senator Link has forged strong relationships with local government and business groups while putting together impressive gains at the ballot box.

Especially at the precinct level, Link will be the first to admit there is much work to be done. It will be interesting to see whether the new League of Independent Democrats is working with Senator Link or against him.

Guard choppers find new home

Just minutes away, if you're lucky enough to be a resident of Lake County, is the Coast Guard's new search and rescue station. The Waukegan Regional Airport is home for two brilliant orange H65 Dolphin helicopters.

The facility, replacing the air rescue unit at the former Glenview Naval Air Station, will be involved in rescue efforts on southern Lake Michigan and inland areas. The Coast Guard choppers also are authorized for service in the far reaches of the midwest.

Retiring Congressman John Porter (R-Wilmette) was instrumental in obtaining federal funding to establish the unit in Waukegan. Considering the concentration of population and a major center of boating, Waukegan Regional Airport is an ideal home for the rescue unit. The Coast Guard choppers also are a prize federal plum. Political leaders should remain vigilant that the rescue unit maintains its home in Lake County.

Gas game can be played by two Somebody's making a killing on the astronomical gasoline prices and it's not just the refineries. More than likely, everyone along the petroleum food chain is in for their piece of the swag.

In this corner, we're not going to get involved in the theories, purported reasons for off-the-charts gasoline pricing and all the finger-pointing about why residents of this community and our neighbors are shelling out for the highest gasoline prices in the land.

All we want to do is propose some gamesmanship. This whole thing, the reformulation stuff, charges of gouging, dislocation of supplies, new federal anti-pollution standards is a game, isn't it? And as the old saying goes, two can play this game. You and me and the guys behind the pumps.

Here's an idea: Let's start purchasing our gasoline in smidgens of a gallon or two. Halt your input at an odd number. Pay your bill in cash and smile brightly when you get your change. My guess is that every bloom'en pumper around these parts will be out of change in less than two hours. What to do? Close down to go to the bank to obtain more change. Get it? All of us can close down gasoline stations simply by doing business a little differently. No credit cards folks. Sorry, no fill ups. Just dribs, drabs and drops of gasoline. Get your change. Lots of change.

Sure we'll be inconvenienced. But remember this is a game. After several days of this—on a wide scale—everyone along the gasoline food chain, including the suits who concocted this whole price gouging scheme, is going to get tired of going to the bank for change and selling gasoline in shot glassful amounts for peanut profits.

How long will it take for them to sue for peace with the consuming public? Let's not hurt each other. OK? It just might work.

Rookie retiree

Mary Hess, 72, qualifies as an expert on how a children's home operates, but she's a rookie learning the ropes of retirement. "I'm taking one day at a time," she declared. Mary became a legend at Central Baptist Children's Home, Lake Villa, while compiling 50 years of continuous service. Has to be a record. Her last job was as administrative assistant. "I keep thinking I'm on vacation and will have to go back to the office," she laughs. Mary entered the working world at age 11, married at 19, started a family, joined the children's home office staff and became a single parent when her husband died 19 years ago. If not a record holder, she sure is a role model.

Rte. 53 survey

Officials of the Lake County Farm Bureau report that well over one third of the responses to a member survey regarding the controversial Rte. 53 extension to ease traffic gridlock are favorable. Approximately 3,000 surveys were mailed. One official hailed the return as a "mandate." Wonder how the other 2,000 or so members feel? Against Rte. 53 or don't care.

Song-spiration

After singing a rousing song at their weekly meeting at Holiday Inn, members of the Gurnee Rotary Club are ready to take on the world. The Rotarians get their inspiration for community service singing, "I feel healthy, happy and terrific..." Civic club singing is a throwback to days of yore. Any other clubs still singing?

Jose "Pepe" and Matilde Rodriguez are having a ball teaching Spanish to senior citizens at the Warren Township Center. The Round Lake Beach couple spends an hour or so a week imparting conversational Spanish to a group of seniors who want proficiency in a second language for travel, business or just adding to their knowledge. Pepe, who was born in Seville, Spain, is a retired air conditioning engineer. Matilde is a native of Puerto Rico.

"We have good students," the lively couple averred.

Farm Bureau sees Rte. 53 as long term solution

Eric Nielsen, President
Lake County Farm Bureau

Do Lake County residents want traffic congestion solutions?

The Lake County Farm Bureau for more than 86 years, has worked with farmers and residents in Lake County to help protect the open lands and agricultural lands throughout the county. In the Thursday, June 8, editions of the Lakeland newspapers, the editorial staff took issue with Lake County Farm Bureau's request for member support of the Rte. 53 extension through Lake County.

Farm Bureau is proud of the representation it provides to members at the local, state and national levels. Our affiliates at the state and national levels act as a vocal voice in Springfield and Washington fighting for members views.

In September 1998, we surveyed our membership of nearly 11,000 regarding the Rte. 53 extension. Of the surveys returned, more than 70 percent endorsed the extension of Rte. 53 through Lake County. At that time, the Lake County Farm Bureau board of di-

PARTY LINES, THE LAKELAND NEWSPAPERS' COLUMN OF POLITICAL OPINION, IS PREPARED FROM STAFF REPORTS.

Business executives get multi-versity seats

Lake County residents with high profile business connections are serving on the new University Center board that will guide multi-versity development at a site near the College of Lake County.

They are filling public seats required by state law that provides for five representatives of participating schools, five public and one CLC representative.

Atty. Richard Anderson of Grayslake is the CLC representative. Anderson, who maintains a law practice in Grayslake, is a past CLC board chairman.

County Board Chairman Jim LaBelle (R-Zion) was chosen as a public representative. Those with business connections representing the public include Ameritech Cellular President Annette M. Jacobs, North Barrington; Theresa Hall Bartells, Countryside/Mundelein, Manpower Inc., a family-owned business; Christopher E. George, vice president of human resources at Abbott Laboratories, Gurnee, and Alex Garcilazo, president and co-owner of Midland Glass Co., Waukegan.

Shields Township Supervisor Chuck Fitzgerald combined good economics and good politics when the township relocated its offices from a Lake Forest side street to Lake Bluff West School. Fitzgerald said the relocation will save about $35,000 a year in rent. What he didn't say is that the new office will be close to the Knollwood area where residents have been restive for a long time about being cut off and ignored from the rest of the township.

Campaign fodder

County Board Rep. John Schullen (R-Libertyville) created wonderment over his vote against county spending for a zoning and vac, in the November election.

State Rep. Tim Osmond (R-Antioch), long off the tee and accurate around the greens, wants it known you don't have to be a budding Tiger Woods to play in his benefit golf outing Wednesday, Aug. 16, at the new Shepherd's Crook course in Zion. Tim has labeled the event the "Not So Good Golfers" golf outing.

Conway conflict

Lake Forest officials want to make sure they keep up with the fast pace of south Lake County development. They're going to shell out $42,000 to fund a study on land use of 362 acres along the Rte. 60 corridor that Mayor Howard Kerr says will dwarf Conway Farms, a multi-use development that includes Chicago Bear headquarters and training facilities. Conway President Sandy Stuart already has started a movement to block growth plans.

Rings the bell

Judges of the 19th Judicial Circuit of Lake and McHenry counties presented State Sen. Adeline Geo-Karls (R-Zion) with the Liberty Bell award for outstanding service and commitment. Chief Judge Henry Tonigan presented Geo-Karls with a plaque at a dinner in Wadsworth.

Simpson ready

"This is Warren Township. Political country." That's the way first term Warren Township Supervisor Sue Simpson responds when questioned about prospects for competition in the 2001 election. "Sure, I fully expect to have competition," stated Simpson, who was elected in 1997 in a four-way race. With the opening of the new office and citizen service center on Washington St., Simpson will have plenty to talk about.

Advice to grads, boring or brief?

Here's my all-time favorite line from a commencement speaker, coined by humor columnist Art Buchwald who told a graduating class: "We left you a perfect world, don't screw it up."

Every spring, some 8 million young Americans don gowns and mortarboards to celebrate their completion of high school or college. A highlight is the commencement speech by some celebrity offering advice for their futures, which may never be as much fun as their school days.

Unfortunately, many commencement speakers are boring and their speeches are too long. As the late House of Representatives leader Tip O'Neil told a university audience: "I will be brief. A graduation speaker is like a corpse at an Irish wake; you're supposed to show up but not say much."

In recent weeks, reading about commencement exercises across the land, I felt a tad sorry for the graduates. Most of the speakers sounded rather dull, such as President Clinton, Vice President Gore and other politicians and bureaucrats.

A school might consider it a coup to book such an official, but pity the poor graduates whose eyes may glaze over during the harangue.

Where, I asked, are the great commencement speakers of past years, those who took Shakespeare's advice that "brevity is the soul of wit?"

For example, Art Buchwald. And comedian Bill Cosby, who once told Maryland students they should sue the university because it left them unprepared for the menial jobs they are likely to get upon graduation. "You people are well-educated and you look cute," he said, "but you are not prepared."

Several years ago the University of Pennsylvania gave an honorary degree to actress Candice Bergen, who had flunked out there in 1965 after her sophomore year.

"I was not a focused academic

THE PFARR CORNER

candidate," she told the graduates. "School officials politely asked me to move on."

Finally, last week, news stories appeared about comedian Bob Newhart being the commencement speaker at Santa Clara (Calif.) University, and humorist Andy Rooney addressing the 115 graduates of Gloucester High School in Maine.

Those were talks we'd like to have heard.

Newhart went to Santa Clara because his daughter Courtney was among the 1,000 graduates. The actor needed the Jesuit university audience with Catholic jokes. Himself a product of a Jesuit education, Newhart said, "I am indebted for the somewhat distorted view of life that has served me well in years of comedy."

Gloucester High School was looking for a big-name speaker and sent invitations to former presidents, celebrities and Hollywood stars such as Sandra Bullock and Nicolas Cage. Rooney was the only one to accept.

A year ago, at George Washington University, William Rehnquist, chief justice of the Supreme Court, gave this advice to graduates:

"Don't stop now. College courses aren't the only way. There are libraries, galleries, theaters and museums, and you don't have to pay tuition for them. You'll find the more things you're interested in, the more enjoyable your life will be."

Andy Rooney echoed the importance of lifelong learning, regardless of whether one goes on to college.

"One of the good things about learning," he said, "is how much fun it can be."

rectors decided to wait for the Lake County Transportation Improvement team to complete their initial study before taking a public position on the extension question.

With the study completed last month, the Farm Bureau Board chose to send a request letter asking members to support the Rte. 53 extension option containing the southerly bypass around Grayslake.

Several relative issues were considered. The main reason for extending Rte. 53, is that a large percentage of the property is purchased and this option would cause the least displacement of homes and businesses. The Farm Bureau directors also support construction by the tollway commission, so that the road users will be the ones financing the project, and not the taxpayers of Lake County. Building additional lanes on already heavily congested, roadways would do nothing but provide short-lived, yet ineffective relief. Allowing the extension of Rte. 53 would clearly provide a long-term fix to the traffic woes that plague the entire county.

Earlier this month, we asked the membership to endorse our recommendation supporting the extension and had them return letters of support to our office. Of the 3,000 letters sent out, more than 1,100 have been returned in favor of the extension while only 19 opposed the idea.

The extension of Rte. 53 is not a new topic in Lake County and has been discussed for nearly 35 years. The Farm Bureau Board and members believe it is time to move forward with this project to improve the quality of life within Lake County. Lake County continues to grow, and so will the traffic problems unless limited access highways are built.

While I understand Lakeland Newspapers' right to report our organization's position, I question their motives. If the editorial staff feels there is such a large majority opposed to extending Rte. 53, I would suggest a referendum question be placed on the ballot allowing the voters to answer the question.

"Do you support the extension of Rte. 53 through Lake County?"

I believe Lakeland Press would then see clearly that the Farm Bureau is in harmony with their members and the residents of Lake County.

Healthcare a complicated issue

Quality health care is an issue that affects all of us and as we grow older, good health care becomes even more important in our daily lives. However, there has been a rising dissatisfaction among consumers regarding the health care system under managed care. In October 1998, the Attorney General's Office established a Health Care Bureau within the Consumer Protection Division in response to the growing number of complaints and consumer questions regarding health care.

The Health Care Bureau currently operates a toll-free hotline as a way for consumers to get in touch with my office and voice their concerns. The number is (877) 305-5145. The bureau mediates approximately 200 consumer complaints a month, and resolves about 75 percent in favor of the consumer. Eighty percent of the consumers call the hotline to complain about problems with their health insurance and 20 percent call to complain about their health care provider. Our efforts in mediating these complaints have saved consumers about $5.3 million in medical treatment costs they would have had to pay for themselves.

Currently, the bureau has 10 open investigations, focusing on possible patterns of unfair and deceptive business practices on the part of managed care organizations and health care providers. We monitor all the complaints that we receive to identify these practices. When we identify a complaint that could be actionable under the Consumer Fraud Act then we conduct an investigation and can bring enforcement actions.

The Health Care Bureau engages in a number of outreach activities aimed at providing the public with important information regarding managed care. Over 20,000 copies of our informational brochure "Protecting Your Health—A guide to Managed Care" have been distributed to consumers and health care providers. We have arranged speaking engagements with numerous community groups. In 1999, we organized and participated in seven public information forums held at local hospitals around the state. At these forums bureau staff and other panelists discussed the difficulties that consumers and providers experience with managed care. However, our most productive efforts in establishing a referral base has been our outreach to health care provider associations, elected officials, government agencies and consumer advocacy groups. In closing, health care can be an extremely complicated issue and it is time that consumers have someone in their corner to protect them from unscrupulous insurance companies and health care providers. As Attorney General, I feel it is very important to build and maintain consumer confidence in the state's health care system and to protect consumers against unfair or deceptive practices in the health care industry.

MINDING YOUR OWN BUSINESS

Don Taylor

Know what you want and expect to get it

Bad hiring decisions are among the worst mistakes small-business owners can make. You should be doing yourself a favor when you hire someone to work for you. After all, what you're really trying to do is move your business to a higher level through the efforts of others. You have a job that needs to be done and you want someone to do it well.

Unfortunately, if you're like many business owners, you may pick a person for the wrong reasons. Recently, I asked a group of business owners what they look for in job applicants.

They came up with a long list of positive attributes. The list included: clean, neat appearance, education, communication skills, a good sense of humor, high intelligence, enthusiasm, maturity, common sense, honesty and more than two dozen other factors.

I told them I agreed with every characteristic they mentioned, but asked them if they also considered "the demonstrated ability to do the job" an important characteristic. Sheepishly, they grinned and agreed that it was probably the most important factor.

You see, sometimes we are distracted by trivial or at least less important things as we make decisions. Hiring good folks to help us is no different than other decisions. Without knowing the right questions it's hard to get good answers.

Two great questions to ask are these: "Has this person developed the skills and abilities I need?" and, "Can they help me get the job done right now?"

Matching job functions with skills

Perhaps one of the most important factors in finding good people who will help you grow your business is matching the requirements of the job with the skills needed to get it done. Here is a method I use.

First I list the functions (what I need done) and the things I want an employee to be accountable for (responsibilities). Next I prioritize the functions and responsibilities. Finally, I try to list the skills and knowledge a person needs to be proficient in these two areas.

Let me give you two examples. First, let's assume I need to hire an outside salesperson. The functions and responsibilities (prioritized) are: 1) make effective product presentations, 2) close sales and process the paperwork quickly and 3) handle customer problems and complaints.

Next to function No. 1, I'd list these skills, traits and knowledge: product knowledge, communication skills, confident manner, good personal appearance, etc.

Next to No. 2, I'd list these items: The ability to sell through objections, understanding of negotiation techniques, knowledge of benefits to customers, good writing and organizational skills, etc.

Next to function No. 3, I'd list: Ability to deal with difficult people, product knowledge, positive attitude, listening skills, etc.

A second example might be if I planned to hire a receptionist for my front office to greet visitors and handle the multi-line phone system.

The major functions might include: 1) making a strong and positive first impression with customers, vendors and guests, 2) handling phone calls efficiently, and 3) assisting with clerical duties.

Next to function No. 1, I'd list: pleasant appearance, friendly personality, strong communication skills, etc. By No. 2, I'd list: ability to handle multiple tasks, pleasant speaking voice, knowledge of business functions and responsibilities of key employees (who should get what kind of calls), etc. By No. 3, I'd write computer skills, typing speed and accuracy, etc.

Remember, what you want more than anything else is the right person for the job. When you match education and skills with functions and responsibilities, your odds of success increase significantly.

Video gun games knocked by law officials during Gurnee conference

At an international meeting of coroners and medical examiners, Lake County had the distinction of being both the host and role model for professionals dealing with death and violence.

With representation from around the U.S. and several foreign countries, coroners and medical examiners spent four days at Gurnee Holiday Inn learning how to become more proactive in preventing death and violence.

Lake County Coroner Barbara Richardson was instrumental in bringing the International Assn. of Coroners and Medical Examiners to Illinois for its millennium meeting, the 73rd such annual educational seminar. Richardson is a past president, serving in 1995.

Talks by Atty. Gen. Jim Ryan and Judge Raymond McKoski of the 19th Judicial Circuit of Lake and McHenry counties underscored the necessity of being pro-active, a reputation Richardson has brought to the Lake County Coroner's office, in curbing violent behavior that leads to violent deaths.

McKoski described video gun games with nude women as targets that can be purchased by teenagers. Ryan reported on a major sting operation that led to major retailers removing objectionable and suggestive videos that can be purchased by children without question.

The most gripping moment at the meeting was a presentation on the Columbine High School shootings presented by Dr. Nancy Bodelson, coroner of Jefferson County, CO.

Lake County was well represented on the program. Sgt. Pat Quillinan of the Lincolnshire Police Dept. told delegates that the new Illinois .08 benchmark for DUI's is having a positive effect. John Merwin, associate director of NICASA, Round Lake and Waukegan, reported in detail how local intervention and counseling has reduced substance abuse in Lake County. Tim Kalter, coordinator of Stayin' Alive, a College of Lake County traffic safety initiative, described the acclaimed program.

Torrie Flink, executive director of the Lake County Council Against Sexual Assault, presented "Sexual Violence: the Price We All Pay." Deputy Chief Keith Kalodimos of the Mundelein Police Dept. spoke about investigative techniques in connection with sex crimes.

Delegates enjoyed a reception/buffet at the Lake County Museum and tours of Gurnee Mills, historic Long Grove and Cuneo Museum/Mansion, Libertyville.

Richardson said some delegates expressed skepticism about coming to an area not often associated with major conventions. "But we showed them Lake County has a lot to offer," Richardson declared.

The coroners and medical examiners will meet next year in Toronto, Canada.

Lakeland adds antique, collector paper to fold

Lakeland Media has acquired the Country Peddler, a monthly newspaper with coverage throughout the midwest that serves antiques and collectors.

The Grayslake-based multi-media company will begin publishing the specialty paper with the July issue.

Country Peddler since its founding in 1982 has been produced by Keystone Printing and Publishing of Richmond, IL. Keystone is owned and operated by William and Karen Finney, who also publish the Milk Market News for dairy farmers.

William H. Schroeder, publisher of Lakeland Media, said Country Peddler is a logical extension of company policy to add niche publications—through its Target Marketing division—that complement Lakeland's core business of newspaper publishing.

"Country Peddler is an established and well-accepted publication catering to the huge antique and collector market in America. There also is the rapidly growing support side of the business such as expos and bed and breakfasts that provides growth opportunities," Schroeder stated.

Plans for the Country Peddler include developing a web site and integrating the publication with NetDirect, a subsidiary of the company that publishes 11 community news weeklies in Lake County, the Market Journal saturation advertising paper and the Great Lakes Bulletin, official publication of the Great Lakes Naval Training Center.

Teacher studies Lakeland Media

Elizabeth Bailey, a business instructor from Larkin High School in Elgin, visited Lakeland Newspapers as part of the school's job shadowing program.

As part of the business curriculum, Bailey visits different companies to gain information to take back to the classroom. Companies she's shadowed in the past included insurance and investing companies, and an employment agency.

Bailey visited each of the departments at Lakeland.

"I've gained a new respect and appreciation for all the work and detail that goes into a newspaper," she said. "Every time I've picked up a paper, I never thought that it involved so much."

Bailey said she will take the information she learned and incorporate it into her career section of the curriculum.

"I chose Lakeland because it's a local paper that I'm familiar with and I wanted to know more about the publishing industry," Bailey said.

Metro employment growth sets record for sixth year

Lake, DuPage top employment milestones

Employment in Lake County increased by 11,874 workers (4.9 percent), crossing the quarter-million mark to post a record 254,685 jobs—accounting for 7 percent of total metro area employment, according to a state study.

Increases were led by Waukegan with 5,174, Vernon Hills, 1,620, Buffalo Grove, 1,252, Lake Forest, 1,170 and Lincolnshire, 1,154. Losses were recorded in Libertyville, -2,425 and Mundelein, -748.

Private sector employment in the entire Chicago metro area grew to a new all-time high for the sixth-straight year in 1999, with jobs in the six-county region totaling a record 3,431,924, according to "Where Workers Work," a report of local job growth compiled by the Illinois Department of Employment Security (IDES).

"Nearly 56,000 jobs spread throughout the city and suburbs were added from 1998 to 1999, continuing the metro area economy's seven-year expansion," said IDES Director Gertrude W. Jordan. "Gains in DuPage County boosted its total countywide employment over a half-million for the first time, while increases in Lake County pushed the job total past the quarter-million mark. "The City of Chicago added to its 1998 increase, the largest in a decade, for a two-year gain totaling nearly 28,000 jobs."

Total metro area employment rose 1.6 percent, with five of the six counties sharing in the gain; only Cook County posted a slight decline, down 3,333 (0.1 percent). The number of businesses in the Chicago metro area also rose, up 2,448 (1.2 percent) to a total 199,581, with all six counties and the City of Chicago recording an increased number of businesses.

"Where Workers Work" provides an overview of private sector employment data for all six counties in the metro area, 169 municipalities and all zip codes within the City of Chicago. This report covers the period through March 1999 and includes historical data back to 1978.

DuPage County led metro area counties in job increases, up 17,817 (3.6 percent) with total employment passing the half-million mark to post a record 515,275 jobs. Employment in DuPage represented 15 percent of the total metro area jobs in 1999. MEYERS ON MORTGAGES

by Gary S. Meyers

BEWARE OF THE HOME IMPROVEMENT SCAM ARTIST

There's a scam artist waiting to rip you off for just about any home improvement project.

The stakes can range from a few hundred to tens of thousands of dollars. By the time you figure out you've been had, the perpetrator is gone and so is your money. Worse yet, you could be stuck with a big repair bill.

Last week, The Meyers Report told you about some of the more common scams: deposit and dash, "I was in the neighborhood", the free survey and the home improvement loan.

We reminded you that any scam, especially home improvement projects, rely on fear. The scam artist wants you to believe you and your family are in danger. It ain't necessarily so.

Or they want to make you think you're getting a good deal. That usually isn't true, either.

Your best defense against fraud is education. If you know how to spot a scam, you can avoid it and perhaps even stop it from happening to others.

This week, The Meyers Report will tell how to avoid these scams just following a few simple rules.

To avoid these scams, follow a few simple rules.

- Avoid door-to-door contractors. Any contractor worth his salt doesn't have to pound on your door for his business.

- Get references and proof of insurance.

- Get a second opinion. Don't trust the first estimate you get, and get any estimate in writing.

- Get lien waivers. If a contractor fails to pay his subcontractors or suppliers, they can sue you personally and attach a debt to your home. A lien waiver protects you from claims against your property.

- Inspect the contract carefully. Make sure all terms including work description, start and finish dates, payment terms, and estimates are spelled out to your satisfaction, and the contract contains the contractor's full name, address and telephone number. Don't sign a contract that has blank spaces.

"In many states you have 72 hours in which to void a contract if the contractor comes to your house," Sessa said. "If you sign it at the contractor's office, you're locked in. And for goodness sakes, don't let your signature leave the house except on a legitimate contract. These guys can take your signature off of anything and put it on a contract."

- Save the best for last. Don't make a final payment until the work has been completed to your satisfaction.

Your state's attorneys' office is a good source of information on home improvement scams. Check their websites for the latest information.

Remember, it's your home, and it deserves your best efforts.

Consumer Mortgage Advisory #17: Gouging.

Don't let a loan officer get a big bonus by slicking you with a high interest rate. Unscrupulous companies falsely convince borrowers that their credit or income level is not good enough for the best rates. When the borrower accepts a higher rate than necessary, the loan officers qualify for bonuses of $10,000 or more on a $150,000 loan. Premier Lenders have oversight procedures that eliminate this practice. Go with a Premier Lender.

Staying healthy in extreme heat

Periods of extremely hot weather--heat waves--can cause serious health problems for everyone. In fact, among weather-related events, heat waves are a leading cause of death. Illinois experienced this firsthand in July 1995, when extreme heat contributed to the deaths of more than 700 people in the Chicago area. The following are commonly asked questions about heat-related conditions and how to safely cope with them. Why do high air temperatures affect the body?

Normally, the body cools itself by sweating. If temperatures are extremely high, however, sweating is not enough to maintain the body's normal temperature. When this happens, blood chemistry can change and internal organs--including the brain and kidneys--can be damaged. Heat also can be stressful if the temperature changes suddenly, since it usually takes several days for the body to adjust to heat.

What are some of the most common heat-related conditions?

The most common heat-related conditions are heatstroke, heat exhaustion, heat cramps, sunburn and heat rash. Heatstroke and heat exhaustion are the most serious conditions.

What is heatstroke?

Heatstroke occurs when the body becomes unable to control its temperature: the body's temperature rises rapidly, the sweating mechanism fails and the body is unable to cool down. Body temperature may rise to 106 degrees F or higher within 10 to 15 minutes. Heatstroke can result from overexposure to direct sunlight, with or without physical activity, or to very high indoor temperatures. It can cause death or permanent disability if emergency treatment is not given.

What are the symptoms of heatstroke and how are they treated?

Symptoms of heatstroke include an extremely high body temperature (above 103 degrees F, orally); red, hot and dry skin; rapid pulse; throbbing headache; dizziness; nausea; confusion; and unconsciousness.

If symptoms of heatstroke are present, find a cool place, preferably an air-conditioned indoor setting. Outside, find a spot in the shade. Put the person in a semi-sitting position. Loosen his or her clothing and bathe the head and body with COLD water. Seek medical attention immediately.

What is heat exhaustion?

Heat exhaustion can result when too much time is spent in a very warm environment, resulting in excessive sweating without adequate fluid and electrolyte (salt and minerals) replacement. This can occur either indoors or outdoors, with or without exercise.

What are the symptoms of heat exhaustion and how are they treated?

Symptoms of heat exhaustion may include dizziness, headache, nausea, abdominal cramps, shallow breathing, cool and clammy skin, muscle tremors and heavy perspiration.

A person suffering from heat exhaustion should be moved to an air-conditioned environment if possible. If outside, move the person to a shady spot. Loosen the person's clothing and encourage him or her to drink cool, non-alcoholic, decaffeinated beverages. Keep the person quiet. It may be necessary to seek medical attention if symptoms worsen or last longer than one hour or if the person has heart problems or high blood pressure. If left untreated, heat exhaustion may progress to heatstroke.

How can I avoid heat exhaustion and heatstroke?

Try to keep cool during extremely hot weather. Stay in a cool environment (preferably air conditioned), drink plenty of fluids--such as water, fruit juices or fruit drinks--and use common sense. Heat injury may develop with or without feelings of discomfort.

What if I do not have an air conditioner?

Seek out the nearest facility that is air conditioned, such as a cooling shelter, a senior citizen center, a church, the local YMCA or a center designated by your community. Even short periods of time in a cool environment will lessen the risk of heat injury. Fans alone will not effectively cool an overheated person when air temperatures are above 100 degrees F.

In the wake of the 1995 heat wave in Chicago, many older persons reported being afraid to open windows or to venture out of their homes to go to cooling centers. In these situations, people may want to contact the local police, their church or a community group about being escorted to the nearest cooling center.

What are some good tips on how to avoid heat-related problems?

Use a buddy system. If you are working in the heat, check on coworkers and have someone else do the same for you. If you are at home and are 65 years of age or older or have a chronic health problem, ask a friend, relative or neighbor check on you at least twice a day, even if you have air conditioning. If you know someone who is 65 years of age or older or who has a chronic health problem, check on them at least twice a day.

Limit outdoor activities. Try to plan activities for the coolest times of the day--before noon and in the evening. When physically active, rest frequently in the shade.

Treatments for overactive thyroid quite safe

Dear Dr. Donohue: I was recently notified that I have an overactive thyroid gland. I heard on television that several thyroid medicines were dangerous to use. Have you heard anything about that?—B.D.

ANSWER: There are three common approaches to combating an overactive thyroid gland.

One is antithyroid drugs such as propylthiouracil (PTU) and methimazole (Tapazole). Both drugs can injure the bone marrow and deplete blood of its red and white blood cells. They can also damage the liver. Doctors watch for signs of trouble and stop the drugs at the first indication that things are going bad. The bone marrow and the liver are spared permanent damage.

Radioactive iodine is a second treatment and perhaps the most popular. The thyroid gland attracts iodine better than a magnet attracts iron. "Radioactive" is a word that raises goose bumps. In all the years of its use, radioactive iodine has not caused cancer or disrupted any organ. It wipes out the thyroid gland, so treated patients must often take thyroid pills—a small price to pay for effective treatment.

Dear Dr. Donohue: I work in an herb shop. I would like to tell you how you misled people on their quest for better health. V.N. wrote to you about kidney stones. You told the writer to stay away from oxalate foods—spinach, parsley, purple grapes and raspberries, the foods that are truly needed for stone prevention.

TO YOUR HEALTH

Paul G. Donohue, M.D.

M.M.'s letter made me want to reach you. M.M. asked what a person should do to stay in an alkaline state. You said, "Healthy kidneys and lungs keep you in the alkaline state." Wrong! You should have suggested alkaline foods. I think you should quit this column or find true answers to the questions people ask before someone takes your advice and gets seriously ill. Please respond.—U.S.

ANSWER: I respect your right to your point of view, even though I cannot agree with it.

The kidney stone advice was given to a person who had the most common kidney stone, calcium oxalate. In the not-so-distant past, the dietary advice for prevention of further calcium oxalate stones was to lower dietary calcium. For most, that is not such great advice. Oxalate plays a greater role in generating more kidney stones than calcium does. So a low-oxalate diet has become the diet of choice.

I stand by my faith in the kidneys and lungs to keep us in the proper acid-alkaline balance.

Dr. Donohue regrets that he is unable to answer individual letters, but he will incorporate them in his column whenever possible. Readers may write him at P.O. Box 536475, Orlando, FL 32853-6475.

New parents have developed 'new baby blues'

Dear Dr. Singer,

We just had a baby about 6 months ago and I'm very distraught about something. This baby has seemed to turn our lives up-side-down. My husband and I hardly talk anymore and don't agree on anything. We used to have a good relationship. We planned this baby and were excited about it throughout the pregnancy, but since the child was born, things have not been the same. I'm feeling terribly guilty because I'm really wishing that we never did this. That's terrible for a mom to think, but I do. I've suggested counseling to my husband but he doesn't want to go so I figured maybe you could give me some direction here. D.B.

Dear D.B. This is a tough one because my best advice to you is for the both of you to get to counseling now. Maybe you need to find out from your husband why counseling is so distasteful for him. Maybe he had a bad experience in the past and is afraid to go. Maybe if you could get to the bottom of that and suggest that you try out counselors one time just to see if he can feel comfortable with someone.

Not to be sexist here, but I'll tell you that most of time people come to see me for counseling, it is the woman who initiates it.

PARENT'S PLACE

Dr. Sherri Singer

This isn't anything bad, however, it is important for you to put in perspective whether this problem your husband has with counseling is something significant or just the way he is. You may want to go for counseling yourself about this. Even if he won't go, it's a way for you to have some support. I'd do it as soon as possible.

Regarding your feelings, many new moms feel that they didn't quite expect the reality of what having a baby is about. We all have our preconceived notions about the "Gerber baby" and when our child has colic or can't sleep for more than 10 minutes or needs constant attention, etc. etc., our dreams fade and reality becomes all too harsh. First, stop punishing yourself for wishing that things were not so stressful. As long as you are not planning on hurting this child in anyway, you are entitled to feel however you do. You might try to enlist extended family help. If you can make sure that you have several days of the week where you can have someone else take charge and go do something for yourself or for you as a couple and get away from the baby for a while. I know that a lot of people are worried about leaving their babies for even a few hours. It is critical to that child that his or her parents are healthy, smiling people. This is more important than being with the child 24/7. So, if you have a grandmother or aunt or sister or cousin or co-worker who you trust and know, ask them for some help. Most people are glad to help once in a while.

It is also important for you to determine if your problems are due to the baby or something with your relationship that may have existed prior to the baby. For example, if the baby has colic and is difficult and you aren't sleeping at all, there may be nothing more wrong with you than complete exhaustion. However, if the baby is healthy and fine and this is going on, there's something more there that needs to be explored and dealt with. If your baby is difficult and you don't know why, it's time to get the baby to the pediatrician, pronto.

I know that advice in a column cannot possibly heal an issue like this, but again, I would strongly suggest that you get to counseling either together or yourself to get some support. Good luck!

This column is for entertainment purposes only. Information in this column cannot and should not replace proper Psychological treatment. Pondering pregnancy? Condell OB/GYN's class tells couples what to expect

To conceive or not to conceive? That is the question obstetrician-gynecologist Edward Lee, MD, will help couples answer during his presentation on how to prepare for pregnancy. The class, "Pondering Pregnancy," which takes place Wednesday, June 28 at the Allen Conference Center on Condell's Libertyville campus, will outline the physiological, psychological, social and medical issues couples should consider as they prepare to have children.

Dr. Lee will discuss the facts and myths about how having a baby can affect a woman's relationship with her partner and offer advice on the best nutrition and exercise routines to begin before conceiving. He also will review the three most common genetic disorders in babies: Down syndrome, Tay-Sachs disease and cystic fibrosis, and how a couple can be screened to determine the risk of passing these disorders on to their children.

To register, or to request additional information, contact Condell's Perinatal Education office at 362-2905, ext. 5407. Additional classes are scheduled for Sept. 27 and Dec. 20. All classes will take place from 7 to 9 p.m. at the Allen Conference Center, 700 Garfield Ave., Libertyville.

A dozen water right—tips—keys to lawn water conservation

How you water your lawn may have a greater impact on conservation and your lawn's quality than how much water you use.

Turfgrass research scientists have documented that too much or incorrectly applied water more often damages home lawns than by not supplying enough water. Dr. James Beard, among the world's leading turf researchers, notes "It's man's decisions and methods concerning specific cultural practices that create a high water use rate in certain turfgrass species not the plant itself."

Too much water or infrequent shallow watering creates weak and shallow roots as well as grass plants that are inviting to both disease and insects. To combat disease and insects, homeowners often turn to pesticides that create still more stress on the grass plants actually worsening the situation they hoped to improve.

To conserve water and maintain all acceptable lawn quality, the Turf Resource Center (a not-for-profit educational-oriented group based in suburban Chicago) recommends the following 12 easy-to-follow steps:

1. Mow as infrequently as possible with a sharp blade. Mowing puts the grass plant under additional stress and it will use more water. A sharp blade cleanly cuts the grass and it heals quickly while a dull blade tends to shred the tips leaving them open to disease and prolonged water loss.

2. Mow higher than normal. Greater leaf surfaces hold plant liquids and shade the root zone. Never remove more than one-third of the leaf blade in a single mowing. Longer blades usually mean deeper, more efficient roots.

3. Water and mow in the early evening or morning. Less wind and heat reduces stress on the plant and allows greater penetration and less run-off and evaporation.

4. Water for deep penetration. Interrupt watering when puddles or run-off occur, allow the water to penetrate into the soil before restarting. Light, infrequent sprinkling may actually do more harm than good.

5. Spot water. Drier areas near buildings that reflect heat and light or on slopes require more water than flat areas where water does not run off.

6. Aerate or verticut turf. Increased penetration of water and air will place the water where it can be used by the grass plant.

7. Use a soil probe. Test soil moisture with a probe or screwdriver. Water only when the soil is dry or the probe is difficult to push into the ground.

8. Perform routine maintenance of in-ground and hose-end sprinklers. A single grain of sand can clog a sprinkler tip, or accidentally stepping on a sprinkler can change its alignment. Non-uniform and inefficient watering patterns require increased amounts of water.

9. Change watering routines to match weather and plant requirements. Water after a rain if needed to maximize the availability and benefits of rainwater. Don't play the "set it and forget it" game with automatic sprinkler system.

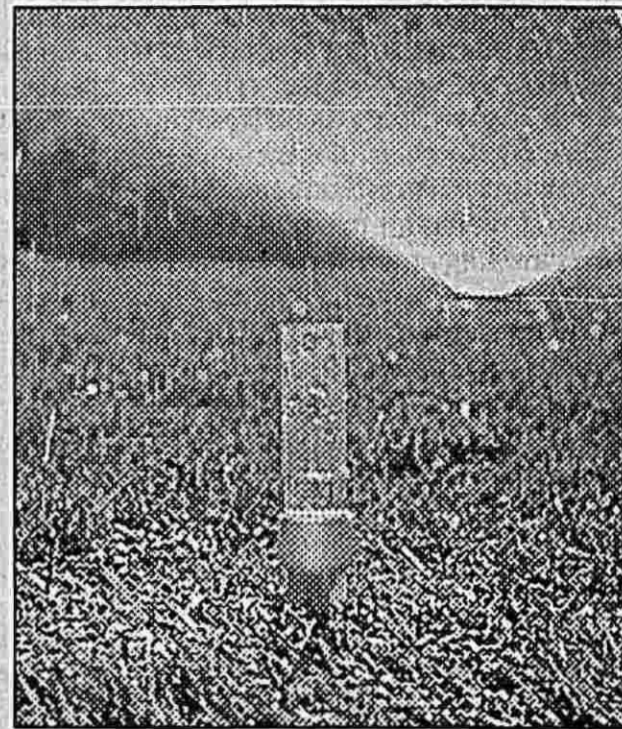

10. Match fertilizer to plant requirements. Extension agents or professional agronomists can recommend timing and amounts of fertilizer needed by each grass variety. This reduces waste and mowing needs as well as overly succulent, water-wasting growth.

11. Increase disease and insect control, with care. Drought stressed turf is more susceptible to pest problems but too much pesticide will increase stress in the plant.

12. Accept a less than lush lawn. Grass will naturally go dormant during periods of drought but will readily regenerate when water becomes available. Reduce traffic on these areas if possible.

Protecting the investment and environmental value of a home's lawn and landscape is important. While real estate studies have shown that a well designed and maintained landscape adds 15-20 percent to the value of a home, environmental benefits such as erosion control, cooling impacts and pollutant entrapment are also important.

Statements about lawn and landscape water use, as well as the potential water-savings that can be achieved through out-right bans on lawn watering tend to be exaggerated. This is particularly the case during times of severe drought or delivery problems. But homeowners with adequate knowledge and good cultural practices can protect their investment, the environment, and their right to water with proper watering practices.

Knowing how much water is applied to a lawn is important, but more important for conservation and a high quality lawn is how it is applied.

Eight reasons why trees die

Accidents. Automobiles, storms and even lawnmowers can cause bark damage and wounds on trees. One can avoid tree wounding by planting them in sheltered locations or by providing some sort of barrier. Be very careful while using lawn mowers and weed trimmers, as careless use can damage the roots and bark of even large trees. Check for any damage incurred during heavy storms and treat it promptly. Remember, the integrity and stability of a tree changes over time.

Too much herbicide. When used properly, chemicals can benefit trees and their growth. Improperly used, herbicides can interact with the roots and damage the tree's health. Make sure the instructions for application are carefully followed. Seek professional help whenever you are not sure.

Soil compaction. This is a slow tree damage process, often with few or no other signs of the cause. In compacted soil, pore space has been reduced and roots do not get enough oxygen. Often the tree slowly declines and dies. Soil compaction can be avoided by aerating the soil by mulching and by preventing soil disruption around trees on construction sites.

Bad Planting. Planting is one of the most important processes to ensure the tree's health and longevity. Make sure the planting hole is two to three times wider but no deeper than the tree's root ball. Plant trees promptly and make sure they get adequate water so that roots do not dry.

Watering. Both over- and under-watering can be harmful for trees. Watering is critical for all trees in dry spells as well as young or newly transplanted trees. Monitoring the soil moisture is one of the best ways of making sure that adequate water is provided.

Location, Location, Location. Trees need proper sunlight and should be appropriate for the climatic conditions, or plant hardiness zone, of the area. Visualize the actual height the tree could reach and make sure there are no power lines in its path and the tree is a good distance from the house, other structures and other plants.

Painting tree wounds and filling cavities with concrete. Paint on the tree wounds will actually trap moisture in the wood, increasing the chances of decay. If you want to paint a wound for cosmetic reasons, use a very thin coating of wood dressing. Trunk cavities filled with cement make the tree unusually rigid, which can restrict the tree's movement in high winds and leave the upper portion of the canopy to bear the brunt of the force.

Improper Pruning. Pruning should follow standards established in ANSI A300, published by the American National Standards Institute. Proper pruning is a tree health treatment, but one of the most neglected tree care practices.

Have a professional arborist evaluate your trees. This will help you determine potential weaknesses and dangers. Ask the arborist to look for stress cracks, weak branches and other subtle indicators of potential hazards. Check the tree for dead or partially attached limbs hung up in higher branches that could fall and cause damage or injury during a storm.

For a list of professional arborists in your area, or to get information on the care and maintenance of trees, contact the National Arborist Association, 1-800-733-2622 or by a zip code search on the NAA's Web site: WWW.NATLARB.COM. The NAA is a 60-year-old public and professional resource on trees and arboriculture. Its more than 2,300 members all recognize stringent safety and performance standards and are required to carry liability insurance.

Ten energy-saving ideas

Using energy wisely can reduce consumption and save money on utility bills, according to the American Gas Association. Here are some tips:

1. Seal leaks around doors, windows and other openings, such as pipes or ducts — with caulking or weather-stripping.

2. Set thermostats between 65 and 70 degrees in the winter, at least 5 degrees lower when sleeping, and at 58 degrees when away from home for more than a few hours. (Warmer temperatures are recommended for homes with ill or elderly persons or infants.)

3. Set water heater temperatures at 140 degrees (at 120 degrees in homes with infants or elderly persons to guard against accidental scalding), and install water-flow restrictors in showerheads and faucets.

4. Change filters or clean the filters in heating and cooling units twice a year. Close vents and doors in unused rooms. If pipes or ducts run through unheated areas, insulate them.

5. Use drapes, shutters, awnings, shade trees, glass with reflective film or solar screens to keep sunlight out in the summer and let it in during the winter.

6. Check to see if attic and basement (or crawl space) have the recommended level of insulation.

7. If you have a woodburning fireplace, consider installing a natural gas fireplace insert, which can save on energy costs compared with wood. A gas fireplace also will dramatically reduce the air pollution created from burning wood.

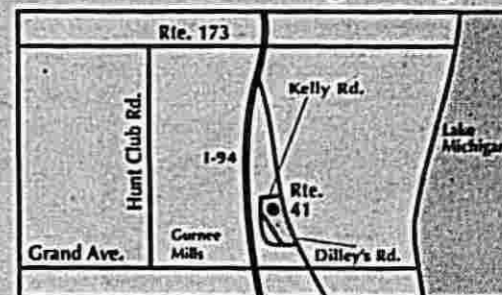

8. Consider storm or thermal windows and doors or double paned glass. A less-expensive alternative is plastic sheeting, which can be temporarily fastened over doors and windows to retain heat or air conditioning.

9. Be sure that dishwashers, washing machines and clothes dryers are fully loaded before running.

10. When buying new appliances, compare energy efficiency ratings and annual operating costs. A slightly higher initial cost for a high-efficiency appliance could pay itself back in a very short time through energy savings and lower utility bills.

Many natural gas utilities offer assistance and special programs designed to help consumers reduce their energy bills. Contact your local gas utility for more information.

do with gas prices?

Ethanol, a homegrown fuel derived from corn, is the major component of E-85 alternative fuel. A combination of 85 percent ethanol and 15 percent gasoline, this environmentally friendly fuel has become a viable option for many Chicago area motorists to beat the "gas gouging" game.

Right now, a $1.85 bushel of corn can produce 2.6 gallons of ethanol. The average price for a gallon of 87 grade unleaded octane in Lake County is over $2. According to John Van Pelt, program coordinator for the E-85 Market Development Project in Downers Grove, E-85 is selling between $1.69 to $1.75 per gallon at 11 Chicago area independent retailers. The closest retailer to Lake County is located in Palatine.

With over 50,000 Chicago area motorists already driving Flexible Fuel vehicles which accept E-85 fuel, Van Pelt said there will be an estimated 1 million by the end of the automotive industry's model year 2000.

"We are hoping more retailers will become interested and add this fuel on their own," commented Van Pelt, who noted that Lake County retailers could add E-85 fuel to their operations with a few minor changes that would not be very costly.

Of course, motorists will need to own a flexible fuel automobile to take advantage of the low fuel costs. Such vehicles have the capability of using E-85, conventional gasoline, or any combination of the two without modification or changes in driving performance. Computers within the cars adjust accordingly for the type of fuel used.

Tom Pfeiler, fleet sales manager of Sessler Ford in Libertyville said that many people don't even realize they are driving a flexible fuel vehicle. A major clue to motorists is the "road and leaf" logo that Ford uses on its Taurus and Ranger models.

With Ford being a principal partner in the E-85 Market Development Project, Pfeiler said all of the Ford dealerships in the county have a fleet of flexible fuel vehicles. He noted that Sessler has sold approximately 100 in the past year, particularly as fleet cars for large corporations.

"People haven't really been asking for them, but we do point out that they are flexible fuel vehicles," said Pfeiler.

"I think consumers are tired of high priced imported petroleum, so they will want to know there is an alternative to skyrocketing gasoline," said Koeppen. "It's here and it's called E-85."

How To Survive The Job Search

By Nancy Sakol

Q: I am writing for a friend of mine who is going to be relocating to northern Lake County in a couple of months. He is going to be quitting his position at the bank where he has worked for 3 years and is moving up here with the intention that he will have no problem finding a job. I feel like I should be doing something to help him secure employment before he gets here. Is there anything you could suggest that can get the ball rolling? Thank you for your time. I hope for a quick response. M.D. - (via e-mail)

A: Securing employment long distance doesn't have to be agonizing, however, without knowing the position your friend currently holds in the bank, it is difficult for me to direct you. It would be more helpful to know what type of position he holds with the bank. Positions can range from proof operators, tellers, personal bankers to lending officers. He may be in the market at this time for a total career change. In any case, I could offer you the opportunity to have him contact me so I may obtain a copy of his resume. Perhaps I will be able to secure some interviews for him upon his arrival.

Q: What can I say to my boss that will make him stop taking advantage of my good nature. I offered to work overtime to get a special project done for him a few weeks ago. Since that time, it seems like he is throwing project after project at me that are requiring overtime hours more than I care to work. I mean, the money is good, but I have a husband and child at home who I enjoy spending my time with. He is never there when I have to stay beyond the normal work day, but the projects that I am doing, are his projects and not relative to my job. Is there a nice way of telling him that I would like to refrain from overtime unless it is required of my job? Please help. Thanks. N.R. - Lake Bluff

A: Just on a friendly level, when you walk in to work, ask if you can have a quick second of his time. Let him know that things have gotten busy at home, and while your family does not mind a once-in-a-while type thing, you need to only work overtime if required. Perhaps he was of the impression that you wanted the extra money. It could just be a miscommunication. See what the reaction is. You may find that it will just go away. Good Luck.
